EVIDENCE POINTS TO IMPROVED RELATIONS OF JAPAN AND CHINA

Japanese War Office Communique Outlines Agreements Reached With Local Authorities in North China—Special Emissary Going From Tokio To Negotiate Settlement With Nanking

TOKIO, July 24 (CP-Havas).—A War Office communique outlining agreements reached with North China local authorities, coupled with reports that Tokio would send a special emissary to negotiate a complete new settlement with Nanking, were taken here today as evidence of substantial improvement in Sino-Japanese relations.

The War Office communique gave the following account of the local settlement agreed to by General Sung Chen-Yuan, commander of the 29th Chinese army and head of the Hopeh-Chahar Political Council:

SETTLEMENT TERMS

"Following the recent incidents in North China, the Japanese garrison secured agreement of the Hopeh-Chachar Political Council relative to (1) excuses or punishment of those guilty; (2) suppression of hostility to Japan and of Communism.

"In addition the Political Council undertook, voluntarily, in a written note on July 19 to (1) eliminate persons hindering good Sino-Japanese relations; (2) suppress Communism; (3) reinforce vigilance with regard to associations, movements and education of a tendency hostile to Japan.

AGREED TO WITHDRAW

"The Political Council agreed, finally, to withdraw from the neighborhood of Peiping Chinese troops of the 37th division implicated in the recent incidents, in order to prevent new conflicts."

The newspaper Ashai asserted a first-rank personage could soon be sent to Nanking to seek a basis for wholly new relations between the two countries. Some sources said a cardinal feature of any new agreement would be that China co-operate against Communism.

LOG SCALE IS HIGHER

Six Months' Production Included 1,276,057,569 Feet of Saw-Logs

British Columbia's official log scale for six months this year was 1,276,057,569 board feet, or 22,000,000 board feet greater than in the corresponding period of last year, Provincial records disclosed yesterday.

The figures are exclusive of 6,005,950 linear feet of poles and piling, nearly double that of the comparative total last year; 66,429 cords of firewood, and 462,397 pieces of hewn ties.

Between January and June in 1936 corresponding production was 1,254,393,000 board feet of saw logs, 3,783,238 linear feet of poles, 77,557 cords of firewood, and 656,260 pieces of hewn ties.

The June scale this year included 362,268,902 board feet of saw logs, 1,586,095 linear feet of poles and piling, 12,016 cords of firewood and 101,918 pieces of ties.

Good Mother Chews and Drinks Beer

TORONTO, July 23 (CP).—Pickles, just about the smartest dog that ever chewed tobacco or drank beer, according to W. J. Walker, her Toronto owner, has just had nine pups and despite her wild streak is a good mother to them.

The four-year-old fox terrier isn't just an ordinary tobacco chewer—she doesn't even bother to chew it before swallowing. As for beer, the dog won't leave a good bone for a glass but waits until the meal is over before indulging, Walker said. She's not a heavy drinker; half a glass is usually her limit.

FRANCE LODGES SHARP PROTEST

Objects to "Lying Allegations" of Foreign Legion's Service in Spain

BERLIN, July 23 (CP-Havas).—Andre Francois-Poncet, the French Ambassador, tonight lodged a sharp protest with the German Foreign Office against "lying allegations" of the Reich press that members of the French Foreign Legion had been sent to fight in Spain for the Government cause.

Francois-Poncet expressed astonishment such articles could continue after an official denial had been given by the French Government.

The provincial press this afternoon reprinted this morning's article in The Voelkischer Beobachter, official Nazi organ, which intimated France had been attempting to stir up "insurgent tribes" to fight against the Spanish Morocco regime.

The newspapers said "it was possible to prove" 800 French Foreign Legionnaires had been sent to Spain despite the French denials.

Der Angriff wrote that Paris was embarrassed by the "German disclosures" regarding alleged sabotaging of the non-intervention system.

RESCUE MINERS AFTER CAVE-IN

Workers in Pennsylvania Mine Trapped Underground Walk to Surface

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 23 (AP).—Four miners trapped 400 feet underground by a fall of coal in a shaft near Llewellyn, walked to the surface tonight, grinning over their escape and scorning medical attention. A crew of fifty workers dug through a forty-ton cave-in to get the men out.

The rescue followed four hours of digging by Works Progress Administration workers and miners in the shaft three and a half miles from Pottsville, on property of the Delaware & Hudson Coal Company.

NO ONE INJURED

The four miners were Arthur Artz, twenty-six; Al Acaley, forty; Albert Wise, twenty-four, and Ralph Neidlinger, forty-five. Only Wise went to a hospital for examination after coming to the surface. He was found to have suffered no ill effects and went home. The others insisted they were "all right."

Tons of coal and rock blocked the miners in a 400-foot shaft they had dug in the side of a bank at Llewellyn. The roof caved in.

Air Force Pilot Burned in Crash

BARNSLEY, England, July 23 (CP-Havas).—A Royal Air Force pilot was burned to death near here today when his monoplane burst into flames and crashed into a field. This fatality raised the total of Air Force deaths to eighty during 1937 today.

Blackfish Thought Cause Of Boat Spill in Harbor

Considerable interest of rather an exciting nature was provided for passengers aboard the incoming Princess Marguerite yesterday afternoon, when an advertising boat suddenly turned over while traveling at a good rate of speed, giving the two occupants of the craft an impromptu swim.

The boat, speeding along at about twenty miles an hour, turned over so quickly that neither of the men who had been aboard it at the time knew what happened. Their conjecture is that the boat hit a blackfish, as there were quite a number of the big fish nearby at the time.

When the little craft turned over, Captain Parry Rogers, of the Ss. Princess Marguerite, slowed down and stood by to render assistance, but the tugboat Squid, arriving on the scene, rescued the men swimming in the water and picked up their boat, which was none the worse for the upset, receiving no damage to bottom or propeller, tending to support the belief of the men that they had hit a large fish.

QUESTIONNAIRE WILL BE PUT TO NATIONS ON SPANISH PUZZLE

Answers in Writing Sought On Non-Intervention Formula's Points

GREAT BRITAIN HAS TAKEN INITIATIVE

(Copyright, 1937, by Havas News Agency)

LONDON, July 23 (AP).—Informed sources said tonight the deadlock over non-intervention in the Spanish civil war was scheduled to be thrown into the diplomatic arena for final settlement on Monday in the form of a concisely-worded questionnaire on vital points of the British compromise proposal.

While Great Britain has taken the initiative in drafting the questions, it was expected the non-intervention powers would assume responsibility for the document's submission to the various capitals.

IN SESSION MONDAY

The non-intervention sub-committee probably will be called into session on Monday to pass upon the latest British effort to end the impasse left unsolved at last Tuesday's meeting.

It was understood the non-intervention powers will be asked to commit themselves in writing on the various suggestions in the British compromise formula and will be requested to submit their answers during the week.

Diplomatic circles predicted the

Would Reconstruct Great Britain If Projects Were Perfected

LONDON, July 23 (AP).—A four-year plan calling for almost complete reconstruction of Great Britain at a cost of £1,000,000,000 ($4,980,000,000) has been advanced by Major Ernest Matthews, secretary of the Institute of Registered Architects.

Matthews, who has enlisted the support of scientists, architectural experts and members of Parliament, estimates the plan would absorb almost all the country's unemployed.

Some of the projects under the proposed scheme are: Steel and concrete tunnels between Scotland and Ireland, between England and the Continent, and across the mouth of the Thames and the Firth of Forth; concrete arterial roads throughout the country; rejuvenation of the canal system, and building of more than 1,000,000 new houses at £300 ($1,494) each.

Japan Revaluating Gold Reserve to Boost Bank Fund

Book Value of Bank Holdings Increased Nearly Three-Fold by Decision of Government—To Set Up Stabilization Fund to Keep Japanese Currency Level in World Markets

TOKIO, July 23 (AP).—The Government's decision to revalue gold reserves of the Bank of Japan, the official bank of issue, and increase their book value nearly threefold, was made public today.

Officials said the new valuation would be 280 or 290 milligrams of gold to one yen. At the new figure the bank's reserves would be about 1,300,000,000 yen.

(This valuation is still below that of the United States Government, $35 an ounce. The new Japanese figure makes an ounce of gold worth about 100 yen, about $29 at the current exchange rate.

(If translated into dollars at the rate of exchange, 1,300,000,000 yen is about $377,000,000; but if it is

REFUSE TO OBEY CHURCH DECREES

German Protestant Pastors Write To Secret Police Declaring Their Intention

BERLIN, July 23 (AP).—A group of Protestant pastors sent letters to the German secret police today announcing their continued disobedience of Nazi church decrees.

The churchmen declared their continued support of 149 of their brothers already arrested—of whom forty-four are still in jail—and wrote the Gestapo (police) they "felt compelled" to continue their opposition.

The pastors' step was taken as their number was gradually being whittled away by the secret police and courts continued sentencing members of the Catholic clergy on charges of immorality.

INSTRUMENT IS WORKING NOW

Restored Seismograph in Alaska Records Eighty Shocks in One Day

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 23 (AP).—Minor tremors continued to shake Interior Alaska today, after a sharp earth shock yesterday broke bottles and other merchandise, cracked plaster and windows, and caused six-inch to one-foot cracks in the earth.

The tremors today were indicative to Dr. Ervin H. Bramhall, University of Alaska scientist, that the earth fault was readjusting itself.

Dr. Bramhall said the university seismograph has registered more than eighty quakes since the sharp one early yesterday, which put the instrument partly out of commission for a time.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

There was no more than nominal damage to buildings here and business was uninterrupted.

A plane party which flew above the Black Rapids Glacier, about 125 miles southeast of here, said the quakes had no apparent effect on the forward movement of that ice-river, but that falling rock had buried 2,000 feet of the highway at Mile 34, and it could not be cleared away for several days.

Insurgent Force Claims Success; Frontier Closed

Rebels Report They Have Seized Offensive in Great Drive at Madrid—Government Troops Say Siege Lines Cut and Twelve Enemy Planes Brought Down—Losses Heavy

Shells Pour Into Harassed City; Franco Takes Brunete

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, July 23 (AP).—Spanish insurgents tonight declared their forces, seizing the offensive in the great battle for Madrid, were reducing the Government's new salient on that front and had penetrated into the important town of Brunete.

From the Aragon front, however, came reports of an insurgent setback. These said Government forces captured Huesca. There was no confirmation, and soon after the reports began to circulate the insurgent authorities closed the frontier. This step has been taken before when important developments were impending.

GOVERNMENT CLAIMS

(Copyright, 1937, by Havas News Agency)

MADRID, July 23.—Continued insurgent bombardment of Madrid was offset tonight by reports Government forces had cut a hole in the siege lines west of the former Government capital and had destroyed at least twelve enemy war planes.

A defence communique stated some of the insurgent divisions participating in the battle west of Madrid had lost half their men.

Six insurgent planes were destroyed at the Avila and Almoroy bases by Government raiders, it was said. Six others were reported burned when Government pilots discovered another enemy base on the Alberche River.

Loyalist squadrons were credited with having attacked the railway stations at Calzaba, Oropeza and Merida.

Although at least twelve persons were killed under the long-range bombardment, Madrilenos regarded the day's fortunes of war as balancing heavily in their favor.

October 11 Has Been Proclaimed Thanksgiving Day

OTTAWA, July 23 (CP).—Thanksgiving Day this year will be Monday, October 11. A proclamation published tonight in The Canada Gazette set that date "as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful crop and other blessings with which Canada has been favored this year."

Proves His Theory by Getting Ill

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP).—Dr. Edward Francisco, of the National Institute of Health, for the fourth time has intentionally contracted a dangerous illness, public health service officials said today, to prove that bacteria carried by insects caused disease in man.

The sixty-five-year-old scientist is now recovering from relapsing fever, a disease which suddenly appeared in the Southwestern part of the United States about five years ago. He acquired it by letting a small tick bite him.

COOLING WINDS CHECKING HEAT

Most of States Promised Lower Temperatures—Far West Still Hot

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP). — Cool air began a route of July's second heat wave today, and brought a promise of generally comfortable weather to the United States east of the Rockies.

High temperatures had reached their peaks during the last three days on the plains. All the affected areas except the southern plains, said J. R. Lloyd, forecaster at the Chicago station of the Weather Bureau, were expected to cool off by tomorrow.

NEW ENGLAND ESCAPES

The Far West continued in the grip of above-normal temperatures. The Southwest and New England did not get the force of the heat wave.

The Federal Census Bureau reported a 16 per cent increase in deaths in eighty-six major cities for the week ended July 17, which included the latter phase of the month's first heat wave, and attributed the rise to excessive temperatures. That week saw deaths mount to 8,933, compared with 7,668 the previous week.

BURIED WITH FULL HONORS

Body of Marconi Is Placed In the Family Vault at Bologna, Italy

BOLOGNA, Italy, July 23 (AP).—The body of Guglielmo Marconi, who gave the world wireless telegraphy, today was placed in the family vault of the Marconis, as Italy honored him with a state funeral.

Three hundred thousand residents of this industrial city, his birthplace, paid their last respects as the cortege moved to the fourteenth century monastery where final rites were held. The body had arrived earlier from Rome, where the inventor died Tuesday.

PLACE OF BURIAL

Marconi' burial place was near the tomb of Luigi Galvani, the eighteenth century Bologna scientist who discovered electricity in chemical action.

The body will remain there until the Government selects a final resting place, which will be a national shrine.

Marconi's widow, the former Contesse Maria Cristina Bezzi-Scali, attended the ceremonies.

INHERITS FORTUNE

Seven-year-old Elettra Marconi became one of the world's wealthiest children today by virtue of her father's will naming her sole residuary legatee to his estate, conservatively estimated at $25,000,000.

Marconi's widow will enjoy the interest of one-fourth of the estate until their daughter becomes of age. The three children of his first wife, Denia, Julio and Ciola, receive the minimum amounts stipulated by Italian law.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 23 (AP).—The Democratic State committee today nominated forty-two-year-old Governor Carl E. Bailey to be Joseph T. Robinson's successor in the United States Senate. He will enter the special election which he himself will call, probably for September 14, to fill the vacancy.

REMANDED ON MURDER COUNT

Sixteen-Year-Old Boy in Court Charged With Killing His Father

MAILLARDVILLE, B.C., July 23 (CP).—A sixteen-year-old boy, charged with the murder on July 19 of his father, Samuel Lamont Metcalf, was held in Juvenile Detention Home in Vancouver tonight, under remand to July 30 after his appearance in Juvenile Court here today.

The murder charge was laid four days after British Columbia police officers found the bullet-pierced body of the Ontario-born war veteran lying before the isolated log cabin near Port Coquitlam, where he lived with his wife, sixteen-year-old son and daughter, Shirley, fifteen.

Next day a coroner's jury sitting at New Westminster found Metcalf came to his death from a bullet "from a 22-calibre rifle in the hands of his son." The jury based its verdict on testimony of Metcalf's wife, who said the boy shot her husband to save her from possible bodily harm by the enraged man.

Police Magistrate E. J. Walker was given authority by the Provincial Attorney-General's Department to act as a juvenile court judge in hearing the case.

Golden Treasure of Ancient Mine Myth Leading to Tragedy

Prospector Showing Way Into Workings for Investigators Hurries Ahead to End Life—Official Confirmation Due to Misinterpretation

PANAMA, C.Z., July 23 (AP).—Investigators who visited an ancient mine where Gaston Johannes van Steck, a French prospector, reported having found a $3,000,000 treasure, said today Van Steck had killed himself after failing to prove his "discovery."

A representative of The Panama-Star-Herald and Government officials went into Chiriqui Province to confirm reports of the finding of gold supposedly hidden for centuries in tunnels along the banks of the Piedra Candela River.

A MISINTERPRETATION

Earlier official confirmation of the gold discovery was described as being due to "misinterpretation" of a message sent by a Captain Sagel to the police chief at El Volcan.

Sagel said the prospector appeared highly nervous on the morning of July 21, when the investigators approached the ancient mine and upon reaching the cave or tunnel said, "We will now go to see where the gold is."

Sagel reported that the prospector indicated a desire to enter first, and went behind a rock in the tunnel, while Sagel, the Governor of Chiriqui Province, and Alfred Veser, a Swiss citizen, who served Van Steck as a general helper and watchman, remained a short distance behind.

AN OMINOUS SOUND

Shortly afterward, the group heard a sound resembling the breaking of a stick.

The men rushed in and found Van Steck on the ground, a bullet wound in his right temple and a revolver at his side. He died three hours later.

Officers Are Named By Fire Insurance Agents at Luncheon

Lieut.-Colonel F. B. J. Stephenson Is Re-Elected President of Victoria and District Association —Reports Submitted at Annual Meeting

LIEUT.-COL. F. B. J. Stephenson was re-elected by acclamation for a second term as president of the Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents' Association at the annual luncheon meeting of that body at the Pacific Club yesterday. A. C. S. Pitts was chosen vice-president, and F. F. Fatt was elected to his eighteenth term as secretary-treasurer.

New members of the executive committee are F. N. Cabledu and R. S. A. Jackson. Those re-elected to the executive body are F. W. Waller, Frank Jordan and Major H. Cuthbert Holmes. The contact committee consists of the president and Frank Jordan.

F. W. Waller and H. W. Sparks presented the report of the budget committee, which was accepted by the members present. The president thanked the committee members for their exhaustive work on this report.

PRESIDENTIAL REPORT

In his annual presidential report, Colonel Stephenson acknowledged the co-operation he had received during the year from members and executive. The year had been a difficult and busy one, but, in general, a satisfactory one, he stated. The most encouraging thing at present, he said, was the probability that the Provincial Advisory Board provided for at the last session of the Legislature would be established in the near future. Inland marine insurance, he pointed out, had been one of the perplexing problems faced by the association during the past year, but the committee looking into the subject, of which F. W. Waller was a member, was approaching a satisfactory definition of terms that was expected to remedy the difficulties now existing.

"Even more serious," Colonel Stephenson declared, "is the inadequate fire protection now afforded in the city, and more particularly in Oak Bay. "This situation," he explained, "had arisen as the result of the closing of two fire halls following an amendment to the Hours of Labor Act which had necessitated a decrease in staff by the City Fire Department. It is hoped, however, that condition in this field will have become normal again by September 1," the president said.

Colonel Stephenson ended his report with a brief survey of progress made during the past year by the Canadian Federation of Agents, to which the local and all other board associations in the Dominion belonged. The federation had become so unified, he said, that its petitions with respect to the protection of agents were being given favorable hearing by the Insurance Board of the Dominion Government.

Concluding, Colonel Stephenson drew attention to the splendid services of the secretary, Mr. Fatt, during his many years in office, and to the valuable assistance received from John Noble, of the British Columbia Insurance Underwriters' Association.

IS CONGRATULATED

The annual report of the secretary-treasurer, with the year's financial statement attached, was presented by Mr. Fatt, and was accepted without reservation by the association. A vote was extended to Mr. Fatt, congratulating him on its execution.

Following the business session, which was over in record time, the members enjoyed their annual luncheon. Guests at the luncheon included H. Garvin, president of the Vancouver Fire Insurance Agents' Association; James Armstrong and George Schetky, of the Vancouver executive; Fred Burgess and John Noble, of the fire branch, B.C.I.U.A.; H. G. Garrett, provincial superintendent of insurance; Alderman W. L. Morgan, chairman of the fire wardens; Alexander Munroe, city fire chief, and R. B. Kentish Rankin and H. G. M. Wilson, chairman and manager, respectively of the auto branch, B.C.I.U.A.

Letters regretting their inability to attend the luncheon were received from Hon. G. S. Wismer, K.C., Attorney-General of British Columbia; Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Mayor Andrew McGavin, Victoria; William S. Day, Vancouver; D. Syme-Layton, Vancouver; Percy B. Brown, New Westminster; W. H. Jones, Nanaimo, and Frank M. Kilner, Nanaimo.

After the luncheon, members and guests retired to the Royal Colwood golf course, where the annual competition for the R. S. Day & Son Challenge Cup was held.

B.C. Legislator Is Off to Orient

GEORGE M. MURRAY, M.P.P.

OUTBOUND for the Orient with his wife on a month's trade tour of the Far East, George M. Murray, Liberal member-elect for Lillooet in the Provincial Legislature, sailed on the R.M.S. Increasing trade with the Orient made the Pacific region of paramount interest to British Columbia, Mr. Murray commented before sailing.

INSURGENT FORCE CLAIMS SUCCESS

a slashing drive against Navalagamella, some nineteen miles west-northwest of Madrid. In a few hours they reached the heights dominating the village. Sweeping down the wooded slopes, they forced the insurgents to retreat in disorder and soon were entrenched in buildings on the village's outskirts.

The successful drive had a double-barreled effect. While carving out another slice of insurgent territory to add to the Government salient, it forced Franco's commanders to send reinforcements to their left flank, thereby weakening their strength in the Brunete-Villaneuva de la Canada sector.

(Insurgent sources claimed in Navalcarnero today that Franco's troops were in almost complete possession of Brunete, fifteen miles west of Madrid, after fighting their way into its outskirts.)

MADRID UNDER FIRE

Madrid was given another bitter taste of the war under the thunderous barrage sent into the city by insurgent guns. Cabeles Square, in the heart of the city, again bore the brunt of the shell-fire. Three men met sudden death in the Rue Arenal when a high-powered shell scored a direct hit on their automobile.

The Government's grip on Navalagamella was considered of strategic importance. Four miles southwest of Valdemorillo, it had been defended by barbed wire-guarded insurgent trenches. The insurgents also had turned two windmills into miniature fortresses, but they were destroyed by the effective marksmanship of Government aviators and artillerymen.

REFUGEES LANDED

BORDEAUX, France, July 23 (CP). —The British steamship MacGregor, carrying 1,500 refugees from Santander, arrived off Bordeaux today and reported it had been fired upon by the Spanish insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera soon after leaving Santander.

A French navy officer who boarded the MacGregor for an inquiry said the insurgent vessel withdrew upon arrival of a French and two British warships which cleared for action.

One of the British warships, the battleship Royal Oak, arrived tonight in St. Jean de Luz. The crew said she was cleared for action at the time of the incident because that was the normal procedure now on such occasions.

JAPAN REVALUES GOLD RESERVES

taken into consideration that the Japanese valuation of gold still is about 17 per cent below the United States the value of the bank's reserves becomes about $455,000,000.

(The book profit on Japan's revaluation has been estimated at about 800,000,000 yen.)

To keep Japanese currency stable in world markets, the Government has decided to set up an exchange stabilization fund, using about 800,000,000 yen of the Bank of Japan's gold reserves at the revalued price.

INCREASE NOTE ISSUE

The Bank of Japan also will revalue gold reserves of the official colonial banks, Bank of Chosen (Korea) and Bank of Taiwan (Formosa), and absorb into its own reserves, part of the surpluses thus created. Nevertheless, the note-issuing limits of the two colonial banks will be increased by from 100 to 140 per cent.

(Ever since December, 1931, when Japan went off the gold standard, the official bank has carried its gold reserves on its books at the old gold parity figure, which was 84.4 cents per yen in terms of devalued United States dollars. With the yen fluctuating between 20 and 30 cents, the actual value of the gold in terms of yen has been three or four times the book figures.)

FORTIN PLAN TO BE HEARD

Council to Receive Details Of Toronto Conference Monday Afternoon

A full report on the Toronto conference at which the Jules E. Fortin debt adjustment plan was ratified by a committee of eight representative holders of City of Victoria bonds will be presented to the City Council at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, Charles S. Henley, city fiscal agent, stated yesterday.

Mr. Henley returned from Eastern Canada yesterday, where he and Mayor Andrew McGavin conferred with bondholders. Proceedings of the meeting were daily cabled to a committee in London representing English holders of city bonds.

Deliberations lasted last Friday to Saturday in offices of the Dominion Mortgage & Investment Association. Edward E. Reid, managing director of the London Life Insurance Company, was the chairman.

Mayor McGavin and Mr. Henley left the conference for Victoria with no definite answer as to acceptance of the Fortin plan. They were advised at Brandon that the English committee had agreed with the Toronto committee to sanction the plan, with minor reservations. Mr. Henley asserted he was not at liberty to divulge the nature of the reservations. Mayor McGavin may be back in the city today.

SEARCHING WOODS AFTER AIR CRASH

Unidentified Plane Reported Down Near Santa Barbara—Search Hampered by Fog

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 23 (AP). — Ground parties tonight searched a high wooded area west of this city where an unidentified airplane was reported to have crashed earlier this evening.

Numerous reports to the Santa Barbara airport and the sheriff's office said the plane, believed, to have been a monoplane, fell about five miles to the westward. One report said the motor apparently had dropped out before the plane went down.

Because of a fog off the Pacific Ocean, it was impossible to conduct a search from the air. Airport officials said no plane had checked in here, and it was believed the ship was from some other point.

British Columbia will hold, this Fall, its first sale of tax-default lands since 1931 when the annual tax sale was abandoned in view of emergent conditions, it was said yesterday at the Legislative Buildings.

The sales will be held at various points throughout the province, after due notice has been given to owners in default. The exact scope of the sales has not yet been determined, but may be settled by order-in-council shortly.

Owners in default will have a year in which to redeem their properties, on payment of interest at 4½ per cent, it was explained.

DIVORCE BILL PASSES HOUSE

British Commons Gives Third Reading to Contentious Measure

LONDON, July 23 (AP).—Comment was mixed tonight on the House of Commons action giving third reading to the Matrimonial Causes Bill, which liberalizes England's divorce laws.

Earl Russell, writer and philosopher, better known as Bertrand Russell, said of the new law:

"What has been approved is a good starting point. It would have been better if they had left in habitual drunkenness, drug addiction, life imprisonment, etc., as divorce grounds, but maybe that will come later."

BISHOP OPPOSED

Opposition was expressed by Rt. Rev. M. B. Furse, Bishop of St. Alban's, who declared:

"Some day, perhaps, we shall wake up to the fact that you cannot play fast and loose with the part of God's plan and purpose for procreation, upbringing and education of the human race."

The Daily Mail welcomed the bill and headed its editorial "At Last."

The Daily Herald, a Labor Party paper, said: "For once Don Quixote won a fight . . . . Old hands warned him (Herbert) of the folly of tilting at windmills and the danger of becoming a bore . . . But the bill is through, and it will be rightly known as the Herbert Act."

STAIN ON LAW

"It does not do all that reformers could wish. But it does remove one terrible stain from English law. The old rule that only misconduct could justify dissolution of a marriage was a loathly one . . ."

The Daily Mail said if the legislation immediately multiplied the number of divorce petitions that would not condemn it but suggest that large numbers were seeking escape from hardships.

PLANE CRASHES INTO FERRYBOAT

EDGARTOWN, Mass., July 23 (AP). —A seaplane crashed broadside into a small ferry tonight as it taxied after landing in Edgartown Harbor, state police said. Six persons were injured, one seriously. The plane was wrecked.

Charles Johnson, of Edgartown, who was on the ferry, suffered a possible skull fracture when he was knocked down by the impact.

The pilot and four New York passengers in the plane were slightly hurt. Sergeant Joseph Fratus said the five were thrown from the plane into the harbor and rescued by coast guards on duty a hundred feet away.

APPOINTED HEALTH TEACHER

NANAIMO, July 23.—Miss Ruby Partington, of Nanaimo, tonight was appointed to succeed Miss G. Mulholland as health teacher in Nanaimo schools. Five applications were received for the position.

After a long talk on the value of peace, good will and disarmament, a teacher asked his class if they objected to war.

"Yes, sir, I do!" said one boy.

"Good!" Now tell us why."

"Because, sir," said the boy, "wars make history—and I hate history!"

MEHLHORN IN FIRST PLACE

Veteran Pro Takes Lead in Chicago's $10,000 Open Tournament

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP). — Wild Bill Mehlhorn, of Louisville, Ky., the man in the eight-gallon hat, did a handsome job of taking the Medinah Country Club's No. 3 course today, and the lead in the opening round of Chicago's $10,000 open golf carnival.

Wild Bill knocked a stroke off regulation figures for each nine holes, finishing with 35-35—70, for the only sub-par score of a long day of shooting. More than 425 professionals and amateurs started out over Medinah's No. 1 and 3 courses in pursuit of the richest medal play pot of the season—$3,000 to the victor.

Mehlhorn's pace was two strokes better than the count of Gene Sarazen, George Smith and Henry Ransom, over the same route, and Leonard Dodson Ky Laffoon and Charlie Penna all professionals, who posted their scores on the shorter No. 1 course.

The first amateur in line was Gus Moreland, of Peoria, Ill., twice a member of the United States Walker Cup squad, whose effort was a 71 on No. 1.

Mildred Babe Didrikson, the sole woman in the event, got around the first half of her trip in thirty-nine strokes, but needed a 42 for the rest of the journey, finishing with an 82.

Three Goals Sought In Teaching Urges New York Lecturer

Dr. Alfred Hall-Quest Addresses Big Audience of Teachers at Summer School—Understanding, Thinking and Appreciation Need Developing

"EVERY school should be a laboratory of thinking; every classroom should be a place where the teacher recognizes the pupil's right to think," said Dr. Alfred L. Hall-Quest, professor of education in New York University, in addressing a capacity audience of Summer School teacher-students in the High School auditorium yesterday morning.

Introduced by Dr. J. M. Ewing, of Vancouver, who has charge of the Summer School course in educational psychology, Dr. Hall-Quest showed an independent and unacademic attitude in discussing "The three goals of teaching." These were, in brief, "Teaching pupils to understand"; "Teaching pupils to think," and "Teaching pupils to appreciate." "Appreciation," he again discussed under the subheads of cognition, imagination, evaluation, emotion and connation.

MAGNIFICENT TASK

"It is true of teaching that it has much that is routine and humdrum; that it often leaves a sense of irritation and futility, and that teachers regard themselves as, in a sense, suffering from handicaps not experienced by other groups. But if you hold in mind this threefold objective of teaching the pupil to understand, to think, and to appreciate you will find that it makes your task magnificent. Do not bemoan your fate, but be thankful that you have been called," said the lecturer in his final summing up.

One reason for the teacher's feeling of self-pity might be because of the view they had of their work. If they thought of teaching in terms of so many units of this and so many hours of that; so many pages, so many courses—then teaching did, indeed, become prosaic. But if one kept in mind the aim, the destination, "these three mountain peaks," then the teacher's office became comparatively easy.

THE THREE AIMS

Under the first of the trinity of objectives, "understanding," Dr Hall-Quest discussed the meaning of the word itself. Words, after all, were but symbols, and an important part of the teacher's task was to understand how to teach these symbols, and help the pupil to arrive at some common comprehension of their meaning.

"What, for instance, do we mean by justice, by freedom, by social equality? We are often upset by the vagueness of word meanings. These terms convey a multiplicity of ideas; unless we agree about them we are not making progress. Much of our difficulty today is that we do not more accurately define capital and labor; we do not agree on the definition of equality and justice, or on the meaning of minimum wage. The teacher must first of all understand how to teach the meaning of the symbols of thought," said the speaker, who said that it was too often taken for granted that by the time the pupil reached high school he was equipped to interpret all these word-symbols just because he could read the words.

There was just the difference between "understanding," in this shallower sense, and "understanding," in the deeper and more fundamental sense, that there was implied in the casual "I see" of a telephone conversation and "I comprehend." In the latter there was the implication that the listener had envisioned the context, had got down to the root and origin of the thing.

PRIZES THE BOOK

Although it was not the popular thing today to think of education in terms of the book, Dr. Hall-Quest said he could not think of education without books. By this, however, he did not mean that he evaluated schoolarship and mental brilliancy in terms of memory, but rather that he would like boys and girls to respect books as the repositories of great wells of learning. The hardest examinations he had ever given were on the open book, the evaluation of certain pages, the making of a digest of the contents, the interpretation. Words, books, were the symbols or instruments of learning. It was essential that boys and girls should understand these symbols.

"There has never been a time in the world's history when it was so important for people to know how to think. We are today the victims of slogans, of shibboleths; we are bewitched by words," said the speaker, who cited as an example of his last statement the effect of the term "New Deal" on the people of the United States, who were dazzled into the belief that it represented an Utopia.

INDEPENDENT THOUGHT

The development in the child of a capacity for independent thought was an important part of the work of the teacher. An independent thinker was one who knew how to analyze a situation, who could meet the problems presented by the constantly-changing jigg-saw puzzle of life. The difference between man and animal was that man had at his command an instrument which made it possible for him to adjust himself to an ever-changing situation. Most of the great progressive movements in history had come as the result of some man's capacity and daring to isolate himself from sentimental influences and think independently of his group. The right to ask questions, to think, should be left to boys and girls.

"There is no problem in putting on old shoes; but there is a problem in putting on new shoes on a sore foot," said the speaker, by way of illustrating the kind of problem that everyday life presented to the average boy and girl, the average man and woman. The classroom should be a laboratory preparing the child for the meeting of new situations, for the making of new adjustments. The place of imagination was that it helped one to read one's own experience into a situation.

CABINET GETS PLENTY TO DO

Many Problems for Attention of Ministers—Ontario Politicians Busy

OTTAWA, July 23 (CP).—Ottawa, sweltering in excessive heat, was deserted today by many Cabinet Ministers, who, after three Cabinet sessions this week, will have a breathing space until Monday, when Prime Minister Mackenzie King will inaugurate another series of meetings with his colleagues.

In addition to the important matters attracting attention in the capital, such as the Royal Commission on economic relations with the provinces, the New Zealand trade agreement, development of trans-Canada airways and fiscal problems, there has now developed a great deal of political speculation.

BENNETT'S POSITION

Former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett came back on Thursday from a two-month trip to Europe and will meet his Parliamentary supporters within a fortnight to reach a decision as to whether he will continue as head of the Federal Conservative party and leader of the official Opposition in the House of Commons.

From Toronto come fresh rumors that Premier Mitchell Hepburn will call a provincial general election this Fall. These rumors, following close upon an announcement that Mr. Mackenzie King will address a series of political meetings in Ontario late next month, and less official reports that Mr. Hepburn will hold meetings in the eastern end of the province, are being taken seriously in some quarters.

HEPBURN IN ONTARIO

Premier King has not yet delivered any direct comment on the declaration of Premier Hepburn, made during the Prime Minister's absence in Europe, that he is no longer a follower of the Federal Liberal leader.

It is believed certain that in his Ontario speeches some reference will be made to the relations between the two leaders by the Prime Minister.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner is traveling westward again, armed with authority from his Cabinet colleagues to undertake elaborate steps to meet the drought situation in the Prairie Provinces. He will be joined at Regina, Wednesday next, by Labor Minister Norman Rogers, who will make a survey of the drought areas with Mr. Gardiner, mostly by air.

DUNNING RETURNS

Finance Minister Dunning is enjoying a brief holiday over the week-end, but will be at his desk on Monday and will attend the Cabinet meeting that afternoon. Transport Minister C. D. Howe has been on a holiday in Quebec, but will be back on Monday and will then decide the date for his Montreal-to-Vancouver daylight flight to test the Trans-Canada Airways facilities. The flight will probably take place next week.

MAGICIAN IS GIVEN AWARD

WILLIAM HARKNESS

William Harkness, clever Victoria magician, won the highest award among magicians on this continent yesterday, when he succeeded in escaping from Houdini's handcuffs at the Reno convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Magicians, according to word received by friends here.

Last year Mr. Harkness won the Houdini handcuffs themselves for a tank escape which had baffled other magicians. This year he essayed the harder feat, escape from the handcuffs which only the late Houdini had learned to master and which formed his perpetual challenge to others in his craft.

For this second feat Mr. Harkness was awarded a leather and silver wand, used by the wizard of old-time magic during his lifetime. The presentation was made yesterday at the convention by Harry Day, M.P., London, England, and is considered the highest award in the gift of the craft.

CROP BETTER ON PRAIRIES

Reports of Greatly Improved Outlook Given by Canadian Pacific Railway

WINNIPEG, July 23.—Reports of greatly improved outlook for feed and pasturage in many districts; an a possible return of seed in some areas of Saskatchewan where rain has refreshed the dry lands, have been received by the Canadian Pacific Railway department of agriculture. Harvesting of barley has begun in Southern Manitoba and Southeastern Alberta and the rest on subdivision in Saskatchewan started wheat cutting July 21. Northeastern Saskatchewan crop prospects continue fair to good, but need more rain to fill the heads. Manitoba, with but few exceptions, is fortunate with sufficient moisture to carry the crop to maturity.

RUST CONDITIONS

Reporting on rust conditions in Manitoba, the Dominion rust laboratory, Winnipeg, finds the entire area of Durum wheat inspected shows only 1 to 2 per cent touched, infection in such susceptible varieties as Marquis, Ceres and Reward varies from slight to 35 per cent.

Judged by provinces from reports forthcoming today from the company's agents along main and branch lines, conditions are summarized as follows:

Manitoba—Crops in the extreme west-central and northwestern portions show deterioration from drought, but are generally good, grain is filling well and early-sown wheat may be cut next week; hail losses are reported at 5 to 8 per cent on the Carberry subdivision; 100 per cent at Minnedosa and Neepawa, and 15 to 90 per cent at Franklin.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

Saskatchewan—Crop failures indicated around Regina, Arcola, Weyburn, Assiniboia, Shaunavon, Maple Creek, Outlook, Kerrobert, except late crop Saskatoon, but feed situation improved. Lanigan, Tisdale and Melfort are cutting barley and report crops heading short but fair to good and all need more rain.

Alberta—East, Central and Southeastern Alberta, where drought damage was serious, has brighter outlook for feed, pasturage and return of seed. In southwestern and west-central areas crops are much improved and likely to mature well; north-central and northern portions look substantially better and prospects for late wheat and coarse grains are good. Crop failures are reported from Medicine Hat, Empress, with better hopes in some of the adjoining districts; conditions generally better for both feed and wheat.

In the Peace River district, north from Edmonton, grain is improved though the northern areas need rain for filling.

British Columbia's first alfalfa crop is off and in good condition, and harvesting of Fall wheat, timothy and clover is under way. Tomatoes are coming fast for shipping and vegetable and fruit crops show excellent prospects.

A butter-distributing firm recently held a big banquet. A notable feature of the speeches afterwards was the number of pats the speakers gave one another.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE A unique roller-skating dance and a remarkable solo number in an ocean liner's engine room are among the terpsichorean novelties offered in "Shall We Dance," RKO-Radio's new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers vehicle being shown at the Atlas Theatre for the last time tonight.

CAPITOL THEATRE Twentieth Century-Fox's mighty sea epic, "Slave Ship," is now at the Capitol Theatre with Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery in the leading roles. Others who appear in the cast are Elizabeth Allan, Mickey Rooney, George Sanders, Jane Darwell and Joseph Schildkraut.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Action and thrills follow each other in rapid succession in "Murder With Pictures," a mystery drama starring Lew Ayres and Gail Patrick on the Columbia Theatre screen for the last time tonight.

DOMINION THEATRE The story of a man who laid down his life so that his best friend could flee from a city under bombardment with the girl he himself loved, forms the powerful plot of "The Last Train From Madrid," the motion picture now at the Dominion Theatre. The principals are Gilbert Roland, Dorothy Lamour and Anthony Quinn.

OAK BAY THEATRE Blonde Anita Louise is the girl next door, and a perfect reason to "Love thy neighbor" in "Call It a Day," the Cosmopolitan comedy-drama that shows for the last time tonight at the Oak Bay Theatre.

PARKS BOARD TO DISPLAY FLOWERS

Many Other Fine Entries Promised For Summer Show—Prize Lists Available

An exceptionally fine display from the city Parks Board will be one of the features of the Summer Flower Show of the Victoria Horticultural Society, which will be held in the Main Building at the Willows on July 30 and 31, according to information received yesterday.

The show is being held in conjunction with the jubilee celebrations of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the city and the Parks Board has promised every co-operation.

The exact nature of the display is not known at this date, but it is expected that it will feature sweet peas.

Other large exhibits have been promised the society, and entries in the big display class, where competitors have to cover as much as fifty square feet of floor space, are said to be most encouraging.

The committee expects that this show will be one of the finest in the society's long history of shows here. The Summer Show is always the most colorful of the annual flower shows owing to the emphasis on artistic arrangement of flowers. Under this grouping, competitors arrange their blooms not so much for quality but for effect against backgrounds of colored paper.

Prize lists for the show may be obtained at any florists or by applying to Duncan D. McTavish, secretary of the society.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand was played successfully by one of our local experts. I think it will interest you as an example of turning dummy into the long trump hand.

"South, dealer.

"Neither side vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ K 10 5 ♥ A 8 6 2 ♦ K Q 8 ♣ 8 7 5
WEST ♠ 9 8 ♥ Q J 10 9 ♦ J 7 6 3 ♣ K 3 2		EAST ♠ 6 3 2 ♥ K 7 5 4 ♦ 9 4 ♣ A Q 9 6
	SOUTH ♠ A Q J 7 4 ♥ 3 ♦ A 10 5 2 ♣ J 10 4

"The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	2 No Trump	Pass
3 Spades	Pass	4 Spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"West opened the heart queen, which North won with the ace. Nine tricks were visible, but the tenth seemed hidden. If, however, three hearts could be trumped by declarer, and North left with the long trump, and the trumps were divided 3-2, as seemed likely, an interesting play would develop. Predicted on this idea, and that three clubs would have to be lost anyway, a club was led, which the king won. To the third trick the heart jack was led, and declarer trumped. A spade to the ten put the lead with North, for a second club, which the queen won.

"East could see no better way of getting declarer's trumps out of the way than by a third heart lead. The last club was won by the ace, and the last heart returned. Declarer trumped. Declarer led his last trump, threw the lead into dummy with a diamond, led dummy's king of spades, and the last two tricks were won by high diamonds.

"Declarer frankly admitted after the play that study of the Red Book provoked the idea of making dummy the trump lead, and his interesting play was well rewarded with a game.

"Yours truly,

"W.G.P., Champaign, Ill."

I am highly gratified that one of my books proved valuable in pointing out the correct way of playing hands of this type, and it is with deep regret that I must observe that the declarer learned the lesson only superficially. Dummy reversal undoubtedly was the correct technique on this hand, but the declarer's precise method of effecting this reversal left a great deal to be desired.

It was not only unnecessary but highly dangerous to put on defenders the onus of leading hearts for the declarer to ruff. They might not have been so accommodating. After West won the club king, his return of a heart was all right. But when declarer ruffed this, entered dummy with the spade ten and led another club, East certainly should have seen the light. At this point the situation was as follows:

	NORTH ♠ K 5 ♥ 8 6 ♦ K Q 8 ♣ 8
WEST ♠ 9 ♥ 10 9 ♦ J 7 6 3 ♣ 3		EAST ♠ 6 3 ♥ K 4 ♦ 9 4 ♣ Q 9
	SOUTH ♠ A Q J ♥ None ♦ A 10 5 2 ♣ J

Now, the low trump lead by East would have cooked declarer's goose. It would be futile to overtake the spade jack with the spade king and ruff a heart. Dummy could be reentered with a diamond and the last heart ruffed with the spade ace, but this would result in dummy's five of trumps being the only North-South trumps, while East retained the six spot. And if South failed to win East's spade lead in dummy, the same situation would develop. He never would be able to draw trumps without loss and, at the same time, ruff out all of dummy's hearts.

South's technique went astray at the second trick. After winning the heart ace, a heart should have been returned and ruffed, then a low spade led to the ten spot. A second heart ruff should be followed by the cashing of the spade ace, which would reduce dummy to the spade king. East to the six and South to the queen. A diamond to the queen, the ruffing of dummy's last heart with the spade queen, another diamond to the king, and the cashing of dummy's high trump, while declarer discarded a club, would complete the correct dummy reversal process without having depended on the enemy for assistance.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question—South opened the bidding with one no trump. Opponents did not bid. North responded with three no trump. What should South do now with:

♠ A 9 4 ♥ A 8 3 ♦ A Q 7 3 ♣ K Q 7?

Answer—Pass, as partner was not strong enough for a forcing takeout.

TOMORROW'S HAND

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ J 7 6 3 ♥ A K J 10 5 2 ♦ Q 6 ♣ 7
WEST ♠ K Q 9 2 ♥ 9 7 4 ♦ None ♣ J 9 8 6 3 2		EAST ♠ None ♥ Q 8 6 3 ♦ K J 9 7 4 3 2 ♣ K 5

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Canada, says Captain W. C. C. Innes, chairman of the Citizens' Research Institute, is the most costly governed and the most over-governed country in the world. In 1935 the cost of government was a billion dollars for eleven million people. In ten years the population had increased 18 per cent and government expenditure rose by 45 per cent. Government in the Dominion now costs 26 per cent of the national income, and the total national debt is over seven billions and represents $3,500 for every Canadian householder. Captain Innes says:

"There are ten parliaments enacting more legislation and control of private industry, and today we have government invasion of private enterprise, and excessive taxation which is stifling ambition and initiative, and in addition, because of our ten parliaments, there is a duplication of services. Industrial progress is prejudiced every time a government enacts new legislation upon industry, coupled with excess taxation, which is detrimental to the interests of the producer, manufacturer and consumer, and it should always be borne in mind that governments do not build a nation; rather, nations are built by the individual who invests his capital, creates industry, develops our natural resources and gives employment."

The suggestions made by Captain Innes to escape from the bog of expenditure in which the country is involved are those that have been obvious to all observing people for a long time. He urges the consolidation of the Prairie Provincial Legislatures as a beginning and also a similar plan with regard to the Maritime Legislatures. He says there should be only one income tax, to be collected by the Dominion Government, and so broadened in its application as to make every citizen "tax-conscious." The Dominion, he says, could reimburse the Provinces by giving them a pro rata percentage of the total collections. Captain Innes, too, advocates unification of the railways under a single management. His argument in favor of this latter course is very much to the point. He says: "The National system has a debt which threatens our national life, and the situation cannot be allowed to remain unsolved . . . The situation is so dangerous that it is referred to by practically all our outstanding men, our bankers and leaders of industry, demanding that a solution be found."

If there are ever to be a series of balanced budgets in the Dominion—Federal, Provincial and municipal—the initial step is to reduce very substantially the cost of overhead. That could be done without affecting the welfare of the people. With modern means of transportation and communication, the problem of government in the Dominion is much easier than it was half a century ago. The revision of the British North America Act needed is of a nature that will reduce the number of governments. When such revision is being considered it seems logical that the interests of the taxpayers should be paramount and not the interests of those who desire to cement and extend their political powers.

BALANCED BUDGETS

What Australia and South Africa have been able to do Canada should be capable of with the more diversified resources there are in this Dominion. Australia had a budget surplus of £1,276,637 for the fiscal year ending on June 30 last. South Africa's surplus for the current year is £5,000,000. In Australia a growing export trade and a favorable trade balance have led to a well-balanced measure of prosperity. In South Africa the people's business is well managed and there is a promise that the goodly surplus in governmental receipts over expenditures will be increased next year. Moreover, in South Africa, the national debt is being reduced and there are tax reductions. Mr. Havenga, the Finance Minister, says the financial barometer is "set fair."

The lesson for Canada is that it is only possible to have balanced budgets where a country lives within its means. That is what Australia and South Africa are doing, and there is little doubt that because of this those countries will attract British capital for their development, as well as capital from other lands. Capital goes where there are balanced budgets.

BRITISH GOLD HOLDINGS

The recent action of the British Parliament in granting to the Government increased borrowing powers for the Exchange Equalization Account has naturally aroused a good deal of interest not only in Great Britain but on this side of the water as well. It is not surprising, in view of the importance of the matter, that the financial expert of The London Spectator should write an article of fifteen hundred words to explain to the readers of that journal the origin, purpose and operation of the Account. It may be convenient to reproduce the substance of the same on a greatly reduced scale.

The Exchange Equalization Fund was created shortly after Great Britain went off the gold standard in 1931, the amount of gold in the Bank of England having fallen as low as fifty million pounds. It was feared that in the situation created by the departure from gold there was danger that speculative operations by exchange dealers would bring about fluctuations in sterling which would be likely to produce a bad effect upon British trade. To cope with this danger, a fund of 150 million pounds was placed at the disposal of the Equalization Account for the purchase of foreign currencies as an equivalent to sales of sterling. When, as time went on, other countries left the gold standard and speculators in exchange operations became more active than ever, a further sum of 200 million pounds was added to the fund, bringing it up to 350 millions in all.

Coming now to more recent times, the French flight from the franc and the great increase in gold production combined to create a situation which made it necessary to increase the borrowing powers of the Exchange Equalization Account. Accordingly the fund was increased by 200 millions, making a total of 575 millions. With these resources at its disposal the Account has recently absorbed considerable quantities of gold. In March the holdings of gold by the Bank of England, valued at the old statutory price, were 327 millions. This quantity valued at the present price of £7 per ounce, along with what is held by the Equalization Account amount to a total gold holding of 700 million pounds.

As it would not do to disclose in any way the workings of the fund, the Government decided to issue every six months a statement showing how the fund stood at a date three months previous to the date of publication. It is generally agreed that although there are objections from some points of view to the system represented by the Equalization Accounts they have been rendered necessary by the abnormal condition of international affairs.

DISRESPECT FOR LAW

Sir Josiah Stamp, the great economist, has been on a visit to the United States recently and has recorded some interesting impressions of his reactions to the trend of events in that country. There is one factor in evidence there that seems to strike him forcibly, and that is a growing disrespect for law and order. Possibly this conception grew out of the character of strikes in the United States in recent months, their widespread incidence and the manner in which authority is flouted by those seeking to achieve industrial ends. He does not say this in so many words, but he does emphasize a feature of life in the United States which is not a hopeful factor of the future. Here is an excerpt from what he has to say:

"Incidentally I may say that, by way of comment upon the general spate of new legislation, thoughtful people often express the view that the most serious aspect of life in the States is the growing disrespect for law and order, which found a new impetus in the prohibition era. This again is variously attributed to the heterogeneity of the population and the different racial backgrounds, to the many-sided new policies that have no fully established tradition behind them, to legislation introduced too far in advance of public opinion, and to the division of the functions of government between Federal and State agents, who are to some extent in competition or even conflict. In their diagnosis, few reach what to me is a paramount issue—namely, the absence of a 'career' Civil Service, which welds into a fully equipped administrative machine, and also has considerable influence upon the proper construction of workable legislation, and still greater upon its effective administration. It is too little realized that no laws should be passed without seeing that adequate checks and sanctions are present to secure that they are generally carried out, and it is safe to say that not one per cent of the thinking population appreciates the weight of the administrative factor in ordered government."

SEA POLICY

It has been well said, "An ocean Empire without a common policy on the seas is a contradiction in terms." Nor can such a policy be held to be complete if it stops short at naval problems. Half the business of the navy consists in serving and safeguarding the merchant ships, for without the latter the continued existence of Great Britain and the Empire could not be guaranteed. The kernel of the defence problem is not only a navy strong enough to protect the trade routes, but also a sufficient merchant fleet to use them, carrying men, foodstuffs, fuel, munitions and all kinds of civil and military supplies. Modern warfare has become more and more an affair of transport and supply, and in a maritime Empire that means ships. The fact was hammered home by the German submarines in the last war, especially in those critical months of early 1917. How is British shipping equipped to meet another such emergency, with the navy reduced to one-Power standard and the submarines reinforced by the airplane?—Auckland News.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Victoria had that ten million-dollar look yesterday of a city only slightly conscious of its beauty, and grateful for the warm appreciation of its many friends. The Olympic Mountains and the Straits of Juan de Fuca made an incomparable background, against which the stately pile of the Legislative Buildings stood out with grace and dignity. Up on top of all the statue of Capt. George Vancouver flashed gold in the sunlight, against a robin's egg blue sky. In the inner basin white yachts, with their sails trimly furled and well-known pennants at their trucks, rode contentedly at their cables. Framed in living green creepers, the Empress Hotel offered vivid contrasts of light and shade to the eye, with its slate blue roof and long dark colonnades of arching bays; while from a snow-white staff on the peak floated the Union Jack, its three colors aflame in the sun. Excursion boats alive with bunting waited at the docks for their returning quotas of visitors. The lawns of Parliament Square sprouted with a hundred artificial geysers, as sprinkler systems made rainbows against the cool green grass below. Humanity drowsed along the causeway, as if unwilling to leave an earthly heaven. That was only one picture. There were a great many others; vistas where the Gulf Islands upend themselves in mirages, while ferry boats sail through the sky; long avenue of trees, with shadows inching out the day; and flowers enough to make a royal garden.

For months now this column has been reading of earthquakes and volcanoes around the Pacific bowl. They started in Alaska, where inactive craters once more began to belch forth smoke and flame, as if the earth was growing restless with the spleen of warring nations. Then followed eruptions on the coast of Kamchatka, across the other side of the Pacific and near the eastern terminus of the great Aleutian chain of islands. In July came delayed reports from Rabaul, capital of New Britain, where a great tidal wave was followed by tremors and shocks for twenty-eight hours on end. Three great volcanoes surrounding the harbor spewed out hot, wet pumice, volcanic debris and poison gases, and a new crater opened with a roar. Volcanologists do not seem unduly alarmed at these manifestations, many of which, they say, are normal to this time of the year and safety-valves against a bottled-up explosion that might remake some part or other of the world. Solid enough to use, the earth's surface to scientists is just a thin layer of pie crust which, brittle, breaks from pressure underneath as waves of force sweep through the mass below. It is thus that mountains and valleys are made, both at sea and on land. It is thus that islands pop up like Bogoslof in the North Pacific one day and change in shape the next. Seismographs around the Pacific have been working overtime of late to catch up with current records of that restless lady, Mother Earth. If man wants frightfulness, here it is in the raw, untamed state, that he can neither stop nor start at will. A course in volcanology might be good for man at that, and splendid for dictators.

I used to throw back my head and laugh aloud when I saw imaginative cartoons of toy balloons running away with their vendors. That couldn't happen, I would tell myself. Well, this week, Dr. Jean Piccard harnessed eighty hydrogen balloons, each four feet in diameter, and rode two miles up into the sky on this quaint chariot, which he called the Pleiades. Eleven thousand feet and more he climbed, while over his head the "toy" balloons in segregated bunches pulled him through the air for 360 exciting minutes. Then he made a descent. Unfortunately the balloons caught fire when he tried to land near Lansing, Iowa, and Dr. Piccard narrowly escaped death. His instruments were burned. The balloons used, of course, were not "toy" balloons, but regulation weather balloons, but the idea was precisely as the imaginative cartoonists have often had it. The fact that the hydrogen exploded and the whole attempt ended in flames was only incidental, because six hours of successful flight, with a ceiling of two miles, were achieved first. Say helium for hydrogen, and perhaps slightly larger balloons, and Dr. Piccard's Pleiades may fly again. Back of the experiment is a genuine search for a type of balloon that will go into the stratosphere with the correct margin of lift and without too much expansion, and at the same time have the necessary retentive qualities to hold its gases for the return to this planet. Balloons that will reach the stratosphere may be put together easily enough; the problem of returning is less easy, as all initial experiments have demonstrated. Nowadays, the development of a need is the best guarantee that it will be met, by ingenuity. The stratospheric balloon may be the next development in the lighter-than-air flight.

On the Coast

They were old folk, and they chatted with a friend from some Prairie locality, bewailing the fact that Nature no longer smiled on the farm lands, where good crops were once the rule, and not the exception. "I think we shall come here to live, if the deal pa is considering comes through," she said. "It's green here, and there is water to drink, water to bathe in, and soft rains. They don't realize what that means down here on the coast. Somehow I feel disheartened. We put a lot of work in, on the old place, but it didn't do much good. And my little garden. I've seen it shrivel up, and die, year after year, until I felt old, and dry, and grimed with the dust that used to be good soil. Yes, pa and I mean to move west. It's moist, it's cool nights, and they even say the Winters are quite mild too . . . And if I have a yard, and I will, my garden won't die down here, I know."—B.G.

Glancing Over Sport

"Torchy" Peden, Canada's foremost bicycle rider, was to compete in the Tour de France, the world's biggest and dizziest merry-go-round on wheels, but the contract offered wasn't good enough for the big Victoria redhead. Anna, his kid sister, dropped into the office yesterday with Margaret Bell, Canadian high jump champion, and told me that "Torchy" and Doug were on their way home and would be in the city any time now. Here's a few lines on that race "Torchy" was going to ride in. The event is a road race of 2,776 miles, swinging from Paris north; from north to east; from east to the Alps; from there to the Mediterranean; the Pyrenees to the Atlantic and back to Paris. It is run off in twenty-one stages over twenty-eight days, with six days of rest. The riders average 121 miles a day and 120 or more expected to compete. The course is over hill and dale, mountain and valley, through city traffic and over country cobblestones . . . Don Budge's triple triumph at Wimbledon places his name alongside the all-time greats of tennis dating back to 1877 and including such notables as Wilding, Brookes, Tilden, Patterson, Borotra, Johnston, Lacoste, Cochet, Wood, Vines, Crawford and Perry . . . And just think that same redheaded Budge romped over the Willows courts about six years ago in the British Columbia championships . . . Do you know that Harry Cooper, top-ranking money winner in professional golf, never practices before a big tournament? . . . Harry Givan, Seattle shotmaker, is warming up for the U.S. national at Portland next month. He's pretty hot right now, for he shot a 61 at Broadmoor the other day, out in 32 and back in 29, nine under par for the distance.—J.D.

Dogs

We like dogs. In fact we keep them. But we think they should be kept under control by their masters. The other day a friend of ours, who also keeps a dog, drew our attention to the lax manner in which many of the dog owners of the city look after their pets. She took particular objection, she told us, to the common practice of letting the animals roam at large, and get into whatever mischief they wish. We assured her that the situation had not escaped our notice, that it was indeed to be deplored, but we did not see exactly what could be done about it. We decided we would at least make public our enraged feelings, however, when we learned the next day of a stray dog that had entered the Public Library and caused considerable trouble, refusing to be moved, and snapping viciously at any of the young lady librarians who attempted to drive it out. Then yesterday there came to our attention the sad plight of a local postman, who has so many savage dogs on his route that he has been forced to carry a first-aid kit with him to treat the bites and scratches that he is constantly receiving. Oh yes, we like dogs, but there are limits to even our public-spirited forbearance. A solution to the problem would be most welcome.

A Street Is Tarred

The bright early morning sun was casting a warm glow over Yates Street as a bustling crew of city workmen roared up in a truck. It did not take the sturdy men long to place movable barriers at the intersection of Blanshard and Yates Streets. Three policemen arrived from practically nowhere and menacingly eyed two automobiles with locked doors and set brakes parked in the middle of the block. It appeared that Yates Street's wooden blocks were to be given a hot asphalt and pea gravel treatment. "How about it?" asked a city foreman, glaring at both the police and the automobiles. One of the bluecoats hopped into a machine driven by "Cougar" and visited a nearby garage. He came back with an enormous jack. The policemen carefully placed it under the first machine and vigorously worked the long handle. Nothing happened. All three valiantly tried to get it to work. Faces were getting red and collars showed effects of perspiration. They were joined by the city workmen in their efforts. After half an hour of trying every lever and gadget on the jack, they finally managed to hoist up the automobile and tow it around the corner. Along came the hot tar and gravel and as usual there was a lot of tar and little gravel.—G.B.

Softball Gossip

Failing to show anything like the form that featured their sensational home stretch dash in the senior "A" softball pennant race, Manager Jimmy Lackie's Victoria Longshoremen saw their Vancouver Island championship aspirations dashed to the ground Thursday evening at the Royal Athletic Park, when they dropped the third and deciding game to the New Method Laundry nine. Stevedores had plenty of trouble handling the old "apple" and boners crept into their play at important stages of the game. They made seven miscues, enough to lose any ball game . . . New Method Laundry, on their performance Thursday evening, deserved their victory. They played smart ball and were always on their toes in the pinches. Eric Moir, beaten in the initial clash, came back and heaved his clubmates to victory. Nice going Mr. Moir . . . And now the grand show, the Lower Vancouver Island finals with that peppery, fighting bunch of ball players, Painter's Bruins and the New Method Laundry, sharing the spotlight. It should be a great series and may go to five games. If the Bruins show the fight for which they are noted, Mr. Jim O'Conner and his laundrymen are going to have an interesting time and don't be surprised Mr. and Mrs. John Phan if the Bruins take the series. That's our selection.—S.T.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of July 24, 1887)

Mainland News—The C.P.R. Company have replaced the sidings at the Port Moody wharf and intend to try the San Francisco market with a shipment of Banff coal from the collieries in that vicinity. Should their first venture prove successful, a large trade will be the result. Weather charming, though warm and rather smoky with bush fires. The river continues to fall more rapidly within the last few days. The salmon, hitherto not over plentiful, are said to be coming up the river in great force, so that fishermen and canners will soon be very busy.

Reception Held—The Gorge Road Methodist Church was well filled last evening to welcome Rev. Mr. Wadman, the new pastor. The proceedings were opened with a prayer by Rev. Mr. Starr. The address of welcome was then read by W. H. Bone, to whom Mr. Wadman responded with feeling. A solo by Mrs. Gall, accompanied by Miss Humber at the piano, was well rendered and highly appreciated. Short addresses were then delivered by Messrs. McKay, Spencer an Humber, and after thanks to the ladies had been voted, an attack was made upon the eatables, which were thoroughly enjoyed. The church was a picture to behold, being artistically decorated with flowers and evergreens.

Local Briefs—Should the weather prove fine today, the band of H.M.S. Triumph will play at Beacon Hill. It is hoped a policeman will be detailed off to watch for fast drivers. Two bridal couples go to San Francisco today on the steamer Mexico. While in British Columbia, Mr. McLean, Postmaster-General, will endeavour to make a new contract for carrying the mails between Victoria and San Francisco.

SAILING DATE WAS ADVANCED

Asia Will Call at Honolulu On Her Way Back To Victoria

A day ahead of regular sailing schedule the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Asia, Captain George Goold, commander, sailed from Rithet Piers last evening on her way to the Philippines via Japan and China ports. The liner had a fair passenger list and a heavy cargo. A number of travelers joined the liner here for various ports across the Pacific. The sailing date of the Asia was advanced so as to enable the ship to make a call at Honolulu on the return passage in order to accommodate Summer tours and other business.

Among the passengers going out on the Asia were Leopold Ramon Broggi, director of the National Mortgage Bank of Buenos Aires, and Senora Maria Luisa Alvarez Broggi, correspondent of the Buenos Aires daily, La Razon, who have been spending some days at the Empress Hotel here; George Murray, M.P.P., and Mrs. Murray, co-editors of The Bridge River-Lillooet News, who are making a study tour of the Orient and the East Indies, and Dr and Mrs. Arthur F. Walford, Chicago.

A prominent United States newspaperman proceeding on an extended tour of the Orient is Thomas J. Dillon, managing editor of The Minneapolis Tribune, accompanied by Mrs. Dillon. They will return in October.

Dr. S. W. Tso, a distinguished Chinese leader and chairman of the Tungwah Hospital and one of the founders of Hongkong University, was a passenger for home, accompanied by his son, T. O. Tso, after attending the Coronation at London as one of Hongkong's official delegation. Dr. Tso reported having had a wonderful experience while in London and was enthusiastic over the hospitality of the English people.

PACK WILL BE SATISFACTORY

Good Season Is Promised For British Columbia Salmon Fisheries

VANCOUVER, July 23 (CP).—British Columbia salmon pack this year gives every promise of being "satisfactory," according to Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries for the Dominion Government on this coast, when he returned from two weeks' inspection of northern fisheries.

For real comparison with catches of former years, Major Motherwell said, this year's salmon pack should be compared with those of 1932 and 1933 as most Northern sockeye are four and five-year fish.

Runs on the Naas River are increasing, as was evidenced by last week's pack of 5,012 cases, nearly 1,000 cases ahead of 1932 and 1933. This was partly due to extension of the boundary down the river, permitting a larger escapement to spawning grounds.

Fishing in other up-coast areas continues unchanged or slightly increased over the figures of four or five years ago.

Major Motherwell remarked that protracted bad weather in Northern fishing grounds had forced the fish to keep to deep waters below the fishermen's nets.

Australians Get Their Wings

This example of formation flying by recruit pilots of the Royal Australian Air Cadets, was one of the last tactics required of them before they were given their wings. Australia is co-operating with Great Britain in the training of pilots for the Royal Air Force, which is seeking greatly increased enlistments to keep pace with Britain's rearmament programme and huge additions to the Air Force. Australia's student pilots are taught the groundwork of combat flying as taught to Britain's own recruits.

TRAVELING ON HOLIDAY TOUR

Minneapolis Journalist Making Extended Visit to Far East Countries

Thomas J. Dillon, managing editor of The Minneapolis Tribune, passed through Victoria last evening on his way to the Far East on an extended visit. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dillon. They will make a short stay in Yokohama, where they will meet their son, who has been touring Pacific countries for some time.

Discussing conditions in his home state, Mr. Dillon said that the farmers were doing well generally and were looking forward to a good crop season.

Mr. Dillon's paper, one of the great dailies of the Middle West, keeps a staff of seventy-five men working in two shifts to get out the various editions. "We're a morning journal, but our first edition comes out at 8:30 in the evening and there's one every hour until the twelfth is on the streets," he stated.

"American newspapers are slaves to the extra edition habit. As a result, it is almost impossible to turn out an errorless sheet. We haven't the time to do really good work. At the same time, it is astonishing how we manage as well as we do."

Mr. Dillon is well acquainted with before-the-war Victoria, having been managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for some time before it was purchased by William Randolph Hearst.

Ladies Will Sail Boats on Cadboro Bay Course Today

TODAY is Ladies' Day at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. There will be races for star and dinghy class boats over the Cadboro Bay courses, with the ladies as skippers. These events, talked about for weeks now, will provide some of the keenest competition of the yachting season, and the regular captains of the small craft, demoted to crew positions for the day, will no doubt learn many things about the fine points of sailing.

VISITED HIS OLD SCHOOL

Dr. Tso Was Classmate of British Explorer Scott At Cheltenham

Dr. T. Tso, C.B.E., prominent Hongkong solicitor and educationist, who attended the Coronation as one of Hongkong's official delegates, returned to China yesterday in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, accompanied by his son, T. O. Tso.

As important to the sixty-nine-year-old Hongkong educationist as the Coronation itself, however, was his visit to his old school, Cheltenham, for the traditional speech-day, when Canada's former Governor-General, Viscount Willingdon, presented prizes to graduates and unveiled a plaque to a Cheltenham old boy, the British explorer Scott, who perished at the South Pole. Scott and Dr. Tso had been intimate friends at Cheltenham in 1886 and thereabouts, before Dr. Tso graduated in law and returned to make his home in Hongkong.

A distinguished man of affairs in Hongkong, Dr. Tso's interest in education and public health are well known. He is a member of the Hongkong Legislative Council, chairman of the board of Hongkong University and reveals a thwarted boyhood ambition to become a doctor in his chairmanship of the board of Tungwah and Associated Hospitals.

ADVERSUS WILL GO EAST AGAIN

Craft Used by Mounted Police in Preventive Work Leaving Shortly

VANCOUVER, July 23 (CP). — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police convoy vessel Adversus, used in anti-dope activities, will leave her Esquimalt base shortly and return to the East Coast, it was announced here today. The ship has been in British Columbia waters since 1933.

Adversus has been engaged principally in convoying Oriental vessels inbound from Cape Flattery, to prevent dope runners from dropping their drugs overboard so that confederate ships can pick them up.

The trade, however, in the past decade has been practically wiped out, due to close co-operation between the R.C.M.P. and the Canadian Customs.

Recently an airplane has been used by police officers along with the Adversus, in connection with the work.

PARAMOUNT NECESSITY

Coast-to-Coast Flying Service Must Await Weather Forecasting System

MONTREAL, July 23 (CP).—Trans-Canada Air Lines' coast-to-coast Canadian flying service will not be established until a suitable weather forecasting system has been set up, Philip G. Johnson, vice-president in charge of operations, declared today.

After an initial survey flight of 2,550 miles from Vancouver to Montreal, Johnson said such a system was a "paramount" necessity. "This service," he declared, "must be made available before regular scheduled air service can commence."

The vice-president confirmed today with President S. J. Hungerford and other directors of the new company. A statement later said they discussed existing landing facilities, plans for new facilities and general plans for the initiation of a training programme for pilots, co-pilots and ground personnel.

Training will be undertaken as soon as arrangements can be made, the announcement said, with the training programme probably centred at Winnipeg.

On his survey flight, Johnson stated, he had found some expectation that commercial flights would be started almost immediately. "Such is not the case," he declared, outlining steps which must first be undertaken. "A policy of making haste slowly will be followed," he asserted.

So far 3,600 tons have been taken south of Cape Flattery and landed at West Coast Canadian reduction plants.

YACHTS SAIL OVER COURSE

Spectators See Friendly Brush Between Sopwith's Two Racing Craft

NEWPORT, R.I., July 23 (CP).—Newport's crowds today were treated to another sight of the America's Cup yachts going through their paces off here on the international course.

T. O. M. Sopwith's challenging Endeavour II, expected to be one of the fastest craft to enter the races since their inception in 1851, sailed against her sister, Endeavour I, in a friendly brush.

As the English boats skimmed over the water, Harold Vanderbilt's defending Ranger was outside Brenton's Reef.

Yachtsmen from all over the world, gathered at Newport, remarked at the difference in methods of training and preparation employed by the two skippers. Sopwith is leisurely, yet misses no chance to learn. Vanderbilt's practice cruises have been charged with grim intensity, a concentration which spares no effort to duplicate every angle which might be encountered in the races.

PARADES DRAW MANY ENTRIES

Competitors Should Communicate With Junior Chamber by July 26

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials who are in charge of the parades to be held here August 4 and 7, yesterday received the entry of the Victoria Women's Institute, who plan to enter a unique float in both parades.

The Institute entry will be representative of their standing committees, public health and child welfare, home economics, community betterment, education, immigration, agriculture, arts and crafts, and legislation. It will carry eight or ten persons.

Meanwhile, the Junior Chamber is laying plans to print a souvenir programme in connection with the parades. With a view to having all possible entrants, and types of entries, included, they request intending participants to record their entry with the committee.

ENTRIES CLOSE SOON

Capt. Norman Foster, secretary of the organization, is requesting that participants communicate with him at the Chamber of Commerce, Arcade Building, by telephone, so that an entry blank may be forwarded. Since the programme will take several days to make up, entries should be received not later than 5 o'clock, July 26.

Entries in the August 4 parade by the local fire department were made known by Chief Alex Munroe yesterday.

These include a hose-reel drawn by seven old-timers, who have been connected with the department in past years; a horse-drawn steam fire engine with two firemen, the first motor-driven fire apparatus in Victoria, and a modern pumper manned by four men.

COMIC BAND ENTERED

There will also be a comic fire department of seven men, and a comic band of twenty. In addition, a special float is under consideration.

The Port Townsend Chamber of Commerce, in a letter received yesterday, signified it would be represented in the parades by its president and the drum and bugle corps of the American Legion Encampment, of that city.

MONTREAL, July 23 (CP).—British and foreign exchange closed easier today. Nominal rates for large amounts: Australia, pound, 3.9726; Belgium, belga, 1685; Brazil, milreis, .0670; Holland, florin, 5523; India, rupee, .3764; New Zealand, pound, 4.0046; South Africa, pound, 4.9507.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET

Arriving on the local wholesale row yesterday was the first shipment this season of Gravenstein fancy apples and Bartlett pears from California. Also from California came a consignment of seedless grapes and cantaloupes, along with a carload of peaches.

Coming from the Okanagan yesterday was a mixed car of apricots, apples and Oliver field tomatoes. A supply of honeydew melons, Santa Rosa and Dwarfe plums came in yesterday.

A carload of watermelons is due today from California, and a car of bananas is expected tomorrow.

The orange market is firm. Local cherries are supplying the market, with the Bing crop finished this week. Lambert cherries will occupy the market next week. A few black Republican cherries and sour cherries are arriving daily.

Local tomatoes dropped and are selling at 35 and 50 cents per case. A supply of green pepper and egg plant arrived here yesterday from California.

Pompoon and Flying Scott First Choices for Rich Arlington Classic

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP). — Two speedy three-year-olds from the East—Pompoon and Flying Scott—were the betting public's "one-two" choices tonight for tomorrow's $30,000 classic at Arlington Park.

Eight thoroughbreds were named for the rich event, being run for the ninth time. Ten had been expected to start, but E. W. Duffy decided against sending Grey Gold out and Hal Price Headley—withdrew his Old Nassau.

The race, annually a factor in the battle for three-year-old honors, will be over the mile and one-quarter course.

Jockey Wayne Wright, who won the 1935 classic on Omaha, will be in the irons on Pompoon, while Flying Scott will be piloted by the veteran Johnny Gilbert.

Chief hopes of the West will be Eagle Pass, from the Valdina Farm string, with "Buddy" Haas in the saddle, and Burning Star, owned by Richard and Patrick Nash, of Chicago, and ridden by Alf Robertson.

Schmeling Tops Fight Rankings

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP).—The championship ratings committee of the United States National Boxing Association recognized Max Schmeling today as the No. 1 contender for the heavyweight championship held by Joe Louis.

The committee said "pure sportsmanship" decreed a title shot for Schmeling within six months and said it would recommend that the N.B.A. declare the title vacant unless the German boxer gets this opportunity against the Detroit negro.

Schmeling defeated Louis before the latter won the title from Jim Braddock. Schmeling's managers contend Braddock "ran out" on them in fighting Louis instead of their man.

Miss Mary Bollert Is Chosen New President

Conference of Pan-Pacific Women's Association Comes to End in Vancouver—Next Meeting To Be Held in New Zealand

VANCOUVER, July 23 (C.)—Miss Mary L. Bollert, dean of women at the University of British Columbia, today was elected president of the Pan-Pacific Women's Association as the fourth triennial conference of that organization neared its close. She succeeded Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett, of Japan, who was elected first vice-president for the next three years. Three vice-presidents chosen today were: Mrs. C. L. Lo, of China; Mrs. J. W. C. Beveridge, of Australia, and Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, Tulsa, Okla. Miss Alice Keenyside, Vancouver, was named secretary, and Miss Alice Brown, Honolulu, was re-elected treasurer.

NEW ZEALAND CHOSEN

Delegates selected New Zealand for the fifth conference, scheduled for January, 1940. The New Zealand meeting will be held on the 100th anniversary of the Treaty of Watangi, which made the islands a British possession.

Miss Bollert has for many years lectured through Canada in efforts to interest women in the P.P.W.A. She is a graduate of the University of Toronto, and was a member of faculty at Columbia University, New York, and Regina College in Saskatchewan, before coming to the Pacific Coast.

She has represented Canada at conferences of the International Federation of University Women, the International committee of the P.P.W.A., the World Federation of Educational Institutions and the International Congress of Women.

She was chairman of the Canadian section of the present P.P.W.A. conference.

IN CAUSE OF PEACE

The fifth triennial conference will be devoted to "a study of practical ways of promoting international understanding in the Pacific," Miss Mary L. Cady, San Francisco programme convener for the meeting, announced.

As sessions of the fourth conference neared an end, Miss Cady called together her committee to discuss plans for the 1940 New Zealand meeting.

The committee report said two main topics had been set up for study:

1. "Economic Interdependence," to be directed by Miss Josephine Schain, New York.

2. "Cultural Contributions of the Pacific Countries," led by Mrs. Felix Keesing, a former New Zealander now living in Honolulu.

Weddings

BIRD—THOMSON

Rev. T. H. McAllister officiated at the marriage of Rayna, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Y. Thomson, 76 Obed Avenue, and Mr. George Bird, which took place at his residence on Qu'Appelle Street at 8:30 o'clock last evening. Mr. Thomson gave his daughter away, and she wore a frock of pink lace and a large hat of pink mohair, trimmed with flowers, and held an arm bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. Miss Betty Thomson was her sister's bridesmaid, in a pretty frock of blue flowered silk, who wore a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Fred Hughes was best man.

A reception for relatives and a few close friends was held afterwards at the home of the bride's parents, in a setting of assorted Summer flowers, and the bride's three-tier cake centred the supper table, standing between vases of flowers and white tapers in silver holders.

After a honeymoon on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Bird will make their home in Victoria. For travelling, the bride chose a smart navy blue suit, worn with a turquoise sheer blouse and navy accessories, and a corsage bouquet of carnations and roses. Among the gifts was a set of electrical appliances, from the staff of Diggon-Hibben, Ltd., of which the bride had been a member.

To Demonstrate School Lighting As It Should Be

Dr. Frederick A. Osborn, head of the physics department of the University of Washington, Seattle, and official representative of the Illuminating Engineering Society, is to give a lecture on "School Lighting as It Affects Eyesight," in the Sir James Douglas School auditorium next Tuesday at 8:15.

This lecture is being sponsored by the Provincial Summer School, and after the address, an opportunity will be given the audience to view a demonstration in adjoining classrooms of lighting defects commonly found. There will also be shown one classroom in which these defects have been remedied.

Dr. Osborn is concerned with school lighting from a humanitarian rather than a commercial standpoint. He is the author of several standard college texts and has made an intensive study of school lighting with the view of establishing improved standards for schools.

There will be no admission charge for this lecture, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present.

Paddy the Beaver and Sammy Jay Talk Things Over

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Paddy the Beaver sat looking thoughtfully at the aspen trees he would have to cut to complete his store of food for the Winter. All those near the edge of his pond had been cut. The others were scattered about some little distance away. "I don't know," said Paddy out loud, "I don't know."

"What don't you know?" asked Sammy Jay, who, now, that he and Paddy had become friends, was very much interested in what Paddy was doing.

"Why," replied Paddy, "I don't know just how I am going to get those trees. You see now that Old Man Coyote is watching for me it isn't safe for me to go very far from my pond. I suppose I could dig a canal up to some of the nearest trees and then float them down to the pond, but it is hard to work and keep sharp watch for enemies at the same time. I guess I'll have to be content with some of these alders growing close to the water, but the bark of aspens is so much better that I wish I could get them."

"What's a canal?" asked Sammy abruptly.

"A canal? Why a canal is a kind of ditch in which water can run," replied Paddy.

Sammy nodded. "I've seen Farmer Brown dig one over on the Green Meadows, but it looked like a great deal of work. I didn't suppose that any one else could do it. Do you really mean that you can dig a canal Paddy?"

"Of course, I mean it," replied Paddy in a surprised tone of voice. "I have helped dig lots of canals. You ought to see some of them back where I came from."

"I'd like to," replied Sammy. "I think it is perfectly wonderful. I don't see how you do it."

"It's easy enough when you know how," replied Paddy. "If I dared to I'd show you."

Sammy had a sudden idea. It almost made him gasp. "I tell you what, you work and I'll keep watch!" he cried. "You know my eyes are very sharp."

"Will you?" cried Paddy eagerly. "That would be perfectly splendid. You have the sharpest eyes of any one of whom I know and I would feel perfectly safe with you on watch. But I don't want to put you to all that trouble, Mr. Jay."

"Of course I will," replied Sammy, "and it won't be any trouble at all. I'll just love to do it." You see it made Sammy feel very proud to have Paddy say that he had such sharp eyes. "When will you begin?"

Paddy Watched Him Go With a Puzzled and Disappointed Air

"Right away, if you will just take a look around and see that it is perfectly safe for me to come out on land."

Sammy didn't wait to hear more. He spread his beautiful blue wings and started off over the Green Forest straight for the Green Meadows. Paddy watched him go with a puzzled and disappointed air. "That's funny," thought he. "I thought he really meant it, and now off he goes without even saying good-bye."

In a little while back came Sammy all out of breath. "It's all right," he panted. "You can go to work just as soon as you please."

Paddy looked more puzzled than ever. "How do you know?" he asked. "I haven't seen you looking around."

"I did better than that," replied Sammy. "If Old Man Coyote had been hiding somewhere in the Green Forest it might have taken me some time to find him. But he isn't. You see I flew straight over to his home in the Green Meadows to see if he is there, and he is. He's taking a sun bath and looking as cross as two sticks. I don't think he'll be back this morning, but I'll keep a sharp watch while you work."

Paddy made Sammy a low bow. "You certainly are smart Mr. Jay," said he. "I wouldn't have thought of going over to Old Man Coyote's home to see if he was there. I'll feel perfectly safe with you on guard. Now I'll get to work."

CONDITIONS IN BRAZIL BETTER

Canadian Relations With Republic Excellent, Says Trade Commissioner

Declaring that Brazil was well on the road to economic recovery, and that Canadian relations with that South American republic were excellent, Lester L. Glass, Canadian Government trade commissioner at Rio de Janeiro, commented in Victoria yesterday that the trade of the Dominion with Brazil was steady, and showed a healthy increase.

The total trade in this connection, he pointed out, reached approximately $5,000,000, of which $3,711,000 were Canadian exports, and but $900,000 imports. Concessions between the two Governments, now in effect, should work to the mutual advantage of both.

Mr. Glass described the manner in which the country had to depend upon its sale of coffee abroad for its supply of foreign exchange. There were no invisible exports, delayed payments, frozen debts, and controlled currency, resulted from an insufficiency of exchange with which to pay obligations abroad.

CANADA POPULAR

Since purchasing power was low, and custom duties high, there were many European and U.S. manufacturers making commodities especially designed to meet the requirements of such markets, Mr. Glass pointed out.

Brazilian importers enjoyed the most pleasant relations with Canadian firms, who have an enviable reputation for fair dealing.

The majority of wheat came from Argentina, since the country was so close, and because of the price-differential between Argentina and other wheat producing countries. As a result Brazil used little grain from the Dominion. On the other hand, British Columbia lead, zinc, copper, and woodpulp are imported in large quantities.

Mr. Glass will proceed to Halifax, visiting the more important industrial centres en route.

The third in the successful weekly Friday night dances of the Summer School took place last night in the High School gymnasium. A number of novelty dances, including popular medleys and marches, were introduced.

THREE-ACT PLAY TO BE REPEATED

"Kind Lady" Presented to Appreciative Audience at Girls' Central School Auditorium

"Kind Lady," a play by Edward Chodorov from a story of Hugh Walpole, attracted a large and appreciative audience when presented by classes in acting and production, Department of Technical Education, at Girls' Central School last evening. The production will be repeated at 8.30 o'clock tonight.

The play opened with Mary Herries, a distraught spinster, telling Miss Foster, a bank employee, how Henry Abbott, his wife Ada, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwards had placed her in their power and used her money for their own ends. After the various characters in three acts capably depicted incidents of the stirring tale, the play ended with Miss Herries smuggling out a note to the police and their arrival indicated by lusty knocks upon the door.

FOURTEEN CHARACTERS

Characters were: Servant, Joy Savage; Miss Foster, Honor Benson; Mary Herries, Margery Benson, Rose, a visitor, Emilia McConnan; Lucy Weston, a friend of Miss Herries, Doreen Wilson; Phyllis Glenning, a relative of Miss Herries, Anne Breton; Peter Santard, her fiancee, Richard Gatehouse; Henry Abbott, Gregory Crawley; Ada, his wife, Phyllis MacIntosh; a doctor, Roy Goldfinch; Mrs. Edwards, Florence Gunn; Mr. Edwards, Daniel MacDonald; Aggie, their daughter, Peggy Walton; Gustav Rosenberg, an art dealer, Basil Breton.

Arrangements for the play were made by Roy Goldfinch, stage manager; Given Lamont, art director; Honor Benson, prompter; Kate Dennis, Phyllis MacIntosh, Joy Savage and Dorothy Wilson, properties; Dorothy Wilson, music; Gladys MacIntosh, paintings and sculptures, Mrs. Harry Lane and Honor Benson, box office; Reby Edmond, secretary.

With a newly-invented carburetor, an auto can do 200 miles to the gallon. A motorist now will have to have his tank filled only once to find a place to park.

OPERETTA IS CLEVER WORK

Madame Winifred Lugrin Fahey Presents Own Composition, "The Loyalists"

An incident of the American Revolution provided Madame Winifred Lugrin Fahey, formerly of Victoria, now of Toronto, with inspiration for the charming story of her operetta, "The Loyalists," which she presented at the Metropolitan United Church last night for about five hundred pleased listeners.

Madame Fahey, who composed the music as well as the libretto of this pretty work, assumed an unusually responsible role last evening by herself enacting the entire fifteen roles portrayed in the story, but showed such versatile gifts of characterization that one was never for a moment in doubt as to which dominated the stage at any particular time.

The principals in the story are Sir John Barrowdale, who during the revolution was placed in command of Loyalist troops; his fiancee, Miss Elaine Lawrence, and Scollard, the adventurous and handsome young rebel officer, who tries to induce Elaine, before her marriage, to shift her affections from John to himself, but, repulsed, later takes her prisoner and holds her hostage for her husband. Eventually she and her husband are reunited. This phase of the story is found in the last act, where they are pictured in their humble home, cheered even at the moment of learning of the Loyalists' defeat by the knowledge that they will go down in history as the founders of British Canada.

GRAPHICALLY TOLD

With a spontaneity and ease which showed complete familiarity with every character in the plot and with each of the melodies, Madame Fahey introduced in turn Elaine; Elaine's aunt, the Lady Beatrice; Lady Prunella; Chloe, a cousin of Elaine; Nellie, a friend of Chloe; Sir John, Elaine's fiance; a dancing master; a colored manservant; a rebel who is a cobbler by trade; Colonel Scollard, a captain in the Loyalist army, an Indian brave; a rebel soldier, and a Canadian settler and his wife.

Although no stage furnishings whatever were used, the settings of the various scenes were graphically suggested by Mme. Fahey in her introductory descriptions, the most vivid of these being that of the garden scene of Act 2, and the Loyalist settlement near Fort Niagara, which was the setting for the last act.

POPULAR SONGS

Among the most popular of the many pretty, humorous, dramatic or brilliant musical numbers were the little opening waltz, "The Swift Flying Little Thimble"; "O Happy Day"; "Her Ladyship"; Connie Cole's song, "Do You Want to Buy Some Shoes Today?" the dainty minuet music, "Come Step a Measure"; Sir John's song, "The Loyalist," which in slightly varied form was heard again at the very close of the operetta in "We Are Loyalists," which introduced the National Anthem; the old manservant's work song, "Stickinstangero," a clever bit of musical comedy"; "The Royal Rangers," ingeniously conveying the suggestion of a chorus, although sung by one voice only; "The Rose and the Butterfly," sung by the two friends, Nellie and Chloe; the dramatic "Go! I Bid You Depart!" with which Elaine repulses the rabble of ragged rebels, and the "Cradle Song" of the last act.

Madame Fahey's splendid dramatic soprano voice has unimpaired brilliance, and the artistic work of Edward Parsons, in the role of accompanist, gave finished support to the enjoyable performance.

FINDS CANADA IS IMPRESSIVE

Buenos Aires Banker Appreciates Great Possibilities Of This Dominion

Though declaring that the Argentine was prosperous, and that there was no unemployment there, Leopoldo de Broggi, a director of the National Mortgage Bank, of Buenos Aires, comparing the South American republic with the Dominion, is, nevertheless, tremendously impressed with the vastness of the Dominion and its great possibilities.

Senor de Broggi and his wife, Senora Maria de Toledo de Broggi, who is a correspondent for the newspaper La Razon, of Buenos Aires, have made a leisurely trip across the continent, visiting Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and the Rockies, and registered yesterday at the Empress Hotel. Continuing their journey, they left for Japan last evening on the Ss. Empress of Asia.

It is their intention to return to Canada on the Ss. Empress of Japan, October 30.

APPRECIATE VICTORIA

In the short time they had at their disposal, they saw as much as they could of this city, and remarked upon its loveliness. It is the intention of Senora de Broggi to describe its beauties in an article she is preparing for La Razon.

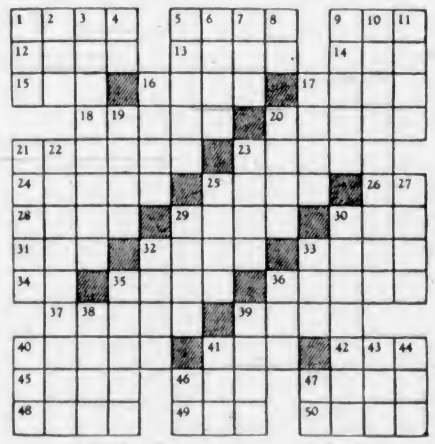

Senor de Broggi commented yesterday on the partial failure of the Canadian crop, maintaining that under the circumstances the Dominion might find it necessary to purchase Argentine wheat.

While here the de Broggis met Capt. and Mrs. E. P. Saunders, world travelers, who are familiar with the Argentine, and found they knew several friends in common.

If July 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m., from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m., and from 10:45 p.m. until midnight.

When it comes to spending money, do not allow anyone to persuade you to spend more than you can afford this day. Be cautious how you attempt any hazardous feats this day, particularly in water sports, for accidents are liable to occur. You are, very likely, a gay, optimistic person, with a hair-trigger temper. You ought to possess decided histronic talent, with a flexibility of voice that will be a valuable asset. Make good use of your talents this day, if by so doing you add to social gaiety. In this way your popularity may be increased. Married and engaged couples, as well as those aspiring to win someone's heart must not give the impression they are lacking in appreciation, if they are the object of some thoughtful attention. Anyone whose feelings or pride is hurt this day will take a long time to forget and to forgive.

If a woman and July 24 is your birthday, you should be of a very compassionate, affectionate disposition, with a tender, soothing touch of hand. Children and domestic pets instinctively may have the greatest confidence in your friendly understanding of them. You are probably very outspoken, but have the gift of being so without giving offense. It is very important that you endeavor to direct your activities to work of a congenial nature, for you cannot do yourself justice in any line of business you dislike. As the owner or manager of a gift, beauty, dress or specialty shop, restaurant or school, you have a chance to become very prosperous. With the right man for a husband, you can face life with assurance and optimism.

The child born on July 24, during its adolescence, requires tender, sympathetic handling, as its spirit can be easily crushed. This youngster must be taught the importance of developing plenty of self-assurance.

If a man and July 24 is your natal day, you have probably a strong, dynamic personality. Gold is your metal, and the chances are good for your having your full share of it. Work of a promotional, educational, theatrical, chemical, literary or artistic nature, is apt to provide the channel through which your ship will come sailing home with plenty of wealth aboard.

CANDIDATE — "GLITTERING, WHITE"

"Candidate" is a word the Romans had for it.

In ancient days, as now, he offered himself or was put forward by others—for office, privilege or honor.

The candidate of old was easily identified; he always wore loose, spotlessly white robes; loose, so that he could quickly display his scars of battle; white to symbolize his honesty, fidelity, humility.

The English word is directly from the Latin "candidus"—"glittering white."

Cubs Drive Hubbell To Showers to Win Over Giants Easily

Fast-Traveling Chicago Squad Drives Ace Pitcher of New York Crew to Cover for 11-3 Victory—Cards Whip Dodgers Behind Veteran Haines—Despite Three Homers Yanks Go Under

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP).—Chicago's rampant Cubs punched Bill Terry's "meal ticket," Carl Hubbell, full of holes today as they routed the pursuing Giants, 11 to 3, to draw away to a full two-game lead in the hot National League pennant chase.

As a ladies' day throng of 25,559 looked on in astonishment, the Cubs pounded Hubbell from the mound with thirteen hits, two of them homers by "Ripper" Collins and Frank Demaree, and won as they pleased with the veteran Charlie Root starring in the relief role with a five-hit pitching job over eight innings.

Hubbell left after eight innings with the score 7 to 3 against him and his successor, Tom Baker, fared much worse. R H E

Haines, who was forty-four yesterday, fanned seven and pitched a shutout until the ninth, and doubled to drive in the final Cards' run in the last frame.

A fight between Babe Phelps and Rookie Jimmy Brown, St. Louis infielder, delayed the game in the ninth. R H E

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP). — The White Sox were outclassed in the homer-hitting department but their safe blows were more timely today and they whipped the New York Yankees, 9 to 6, in the opener of their current series.

Despite Joe DiMaggio's twenty-sixth home run, and four-base blows by Red Rolfe and Jake Powell, the Sox slugged Red Ruffing for six runs in the first three innings and coasted in with the win, although a three-run Yankee surge in the ninth caused several anxious moments.

The defeat ended Ruffing's personal six-game winning streak. The New Yorkers' American League lead was cut to six games over the Sox. R H E

Black Gains Place In Qualifying Test At Fircrest Course

Vancouver's Ranking Amateur Among Fourteen Qualifiers for U.S. National Amateur at Portland Next Month—Bud Ward Heads Field

TACOMA, Wash., July 23 (AP).—Thirteen Washington golfers and one from British Columbia qualified today to enter the national amateur tournament to be held at Portland next month—but old man par, the gentleman hiding in the sand traps, was the hero of the day.

Only one player, young Marvin "Bud" Ward, of Olympia, was able to give the "old man" a sound drubbing. Ward came home with two 70's, one under for each eighteen of the thirty-six hole medal play qualifying round.

Ward, with top honors, and Carl Bowman, of Yakima, whose ten-foot putt in a play-off won him the fourteenth qualifying place, were the only two of the forty-odd entries who went home with any particular glory.

Albert "Scotty" Campbell and Harry Givan, both of Seattle; Charles "Chuck" Hunter, Tacoma; Ken Black, of Vancouver, B.C., and Leslie Leal, of Bellingham, experts all, managed to get in the favored fourteen, but their scores went on no record books.

Givan's even par, 142, looked sad beside his last play here, when, in the championship match of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association, amateur, he cut six strokes off the magic figure for the Tacoma Country and Golf Club course.

Campbell and Westland, also of Seattle, found the Fircrest layout tough on the nerves today and came in with 145 each. Hunter was one stroke behind them, and even with the Canadian, Ken Black, while the best Leal could do was 148.

EXCITING PLAY-OFF

Most exciting play of the day came in the "sudden death" play-off. Thirteen players had scores of 152 or better; and five had 153's.

Bowman, representing Yakima, and four Seattle players, Lee Stell, Forest Watson, Leonard Mitchell and Rudy Holm, fought off the tie by playing an extra hole. All five were on the green with threes. In quick order Stell, Watson, Mitchell and Holm missed putts. Bowman's ten-foot green shot, the last of the five, popped into the cup, looked the situation over carefully, bounced up and down a time or two and finally dropped all the way in to give him a place in the Portland tourney.

Other qualifiers included Fred Lyman, Seattle, 76-75—151; Everetting Weaver, Seattle, 77-75—152; Bill Burns, Seattle, 79-73—152; Bill Kinkella, Seattle, 79-72—152; Richard Haskell, Seattle, 76-75—151, and Bob Van de Mark, Tacoma, 152.

Motorcycle Rodeo Billed Tonight at Langford Speedway

A ROARING motorcycle dashing through a flaming wall of fire at a speed of fifty miles an hour; a brilliantly illuminated colored revue and daredevil stunts that promise to literally pull the fans out of their seats will all be presented tonight at the monster Victoria Motorcycle Club rodeo at the Langford Speedway. After many hard training sessions, the boys are ready to come up with the greatest show of all times, two solid hours of thrills and entertainment surpassing anything ever before attempted by local riders. One of the highlights of the evening will be Frankie Bayliss' daring fire wall crash, in which he will attempt to drive his machine through a blazing wall of fire. The illuminated revue and many stunts with solo machines and sidecars will keep the programme moving at a fast clip with no chance of a single dull moment. The track has been resurfaced and floodlights have been installed in readiness for the big event. The show will start at 8:15 o'clock. Bus transportation to and from the track will be provided by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

DIMAGGIO AND TRAVIS IN TIE

Deadlocked for Last Place In Batting Race Just Behind Lou Gehrig

By The Associated Press

Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees, and Cecil Travis, of the Senators, climbed from fourth and third place, respectively, into a tie for second place in the American League batting race yesterday, as Sam West, of the St. Louis Browns, dropped out of baseball's hitting "big six." Creating the only change in the top half dozen, DiMaggio hit three-for-five to boost his mark four points, and Travis hit two-for-four to climb three points, each winding up with .362.

"BUNNY" AUSTIN WILL MEET PARKER; BUDGE DRAWN AGAINST HARE

Ace of Defending Cupholders Tackles Ranking American in Opening Singles Match at Wimbledon—"Bitsy" Grant Is Benched—United States Favorites to Capture Silverware

WIMBLEDON, July 23 (CP).—Great Britain's Davis Cup team tonight was braced to battle against the United States in tomorrow's match for the trophy the British have held since 1933.

While the United States, which defeated Germany early this week in the inter-zone final, were heavy favorites to take the cup across the ocean, British tennis fans prayed for a singles upset and a miraculous doubles victory.

The draw sent H. W. "Bunny" Austin against Frank Parker, of the United States, in the first singles match, with Charles Hare, twenty-two-year-old left-hander, scheduled to face Don Budge, of the United States, in the second tilt.

C. R. D. Tuckey and F. G. D. Wilde will take on Budge and Gene Mako in the doubles Monday. For the final, Tuesday, tomorrow's singles pairings will be reversed with Hare meeting Parker and Austin playing Budge, in that order. It is the first appearance of Hare and Wilde in cup tennis.

The United States has been an unsuccessful challenger six times since losing the cup to France at Philadelphia in 1927.

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL

Austin was good enough to defeat Frank Shields in 1934, Wilmer Allison in 1935 and Jack Crawford in 1936 in opening challenge round matches and will be the general choice to add Parker to that list.

If he does, Budge will do no more than tie up the score by beating Hare and leave it up to the doubles teams to settle which nation is going to take a 2-1 advantage into the final day of play Tuesday.

The withdrawal because of illness of George Patrick Hughes seriously reduced Great Britain's chances in the doubles. Tuckey is one of the world's foremost doubles players, but he has had little time to work with Wilde as a partner. Budge and Mako, on the other hand, have improved since last year, won the all-England championship and easily beat Von Cramm and Henkel in the inter-zone finals.

BROWN SETS NEW RECORD AT MONTREAL

Britain's Great Sprinter Breaks Twenty-Eight-Year Canadian Standard

MONTREAL, July 23 (CP).—Arthur Godfrey Brown, of Great Britain, tonight smashed a Canadian quarter-mile record that had stood for twenty-eight years as the combined Oxford-Cambridge track and field team swept to easy victory over a bolstered Quebec outfit by eleven first places to two.

Brown, touted as the British Empire's greatest present-day quarter-miler, had a good six-yard margin over Johnny Loaring, of Windsor, Ont., as he breasted the tape in 48.4 seconds. The old mark of 48.6 seconds was set in 1909 by W. C. Robbins, of New York.

The British boys had more to spare in the meet against the Quebec team than in any of their four previous appearances on their North-American good-will tour. Previously they had scored victories against Harvard-Yale, Princeton-Cornell, Hamilton Olympic Club and Toronto West End Y.M.C.A. Thus they will sail for home with five straight meet victories in as many showings.

Early Advances Soon Cut Down On Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP).—Stocks teetered on a shaky platform in today's market and trends were highly indefinite at the close.

The list pressed forward at a fast clip at the opening, with steels, motors, rails and a number of other groups registering gains of fractions to 2 points.

Profit selling quickly stemmed the push, however, and early advances were cut down substantially or replaced with losses in many instances.

A handful of specialties also exhibited strength. Westinghouse pushed up 4 points to 155 on unconfirmed reports a proposal would be considered soon to split up the issue.

General Motors was unchanged to 56 1-8.

Transfers totaled 909,000 shares, compared with 955,780 yesterday.

Conspicious with gains up to a point or so were Electric Power & Light at 22 5-8; Columbia Gas, 14; North American, 27 7-8; American Waterworks, 20 3-4, and American Power & Light, 11 3-8.

Ahead were General Electric at 58 5-8 and Bethlehem Steel 94 3-8.

On the losing side were U.S. Steel at 116 3-8, N.Y. Central 41 1-2 and Northern Pacific 30 1-8.

United States Government and foreign loans moved higher in the bond market today but the balance of the list was uneven with losses as frequent as gains.

In the foreign sector, Japanese obligations worked forward briskly on dispatches reporting a fading of the war scare with China. The 6 1-2's added 1 7-8 at 96 7-8 and the 5 1-2's, at 82, were 1 1-2 higher.

CHAPEL OPENED TO ALL CREEDS

Centenary Held of Notable House of Worship at Dixie, Near Toronto

Among the many church centenaries that are being celebrated in the Province of Ontario, that of the old stone chapel of Dixie in Peel County on the Dundas Highway is one of the most significant and colorful. The ceremony was held on Saturday, July 3.

Indicative of the spirit which erected this all-Protestant house of worship in the year of the rebellion of 1837, clerics of the Anglican, United, Presbyterian and Baptist churches participated in a brief religious service preceding the programme of pageantry and song.

The pioneer log church that was built in 1810 was open to all denominations. When it was outgrown by the increase of settlers, the new stone chapel continued this catholicity. This unity was the more remarkable because of the political strife and social divisions of that period.

UNITY ON SUNDAY

"They might argue by day," said the historian of the celebration occasion, William Perkins Bull, K.C., "but they drank together at nightfall, and whatever blows were exchanged during the week, of a Sabbath neighbors who expected to spend eternity together sat side by side on the home-made benches in their new stone chapel." This non-denominational chapel the speaker described as "the pride of Upper Canada's pioneer Protestantism."

Owing to the objection of certain religious bodies, the chapel never owned a musical instrument. For Church of England services a settler trundled his melodeon to the Dixie chapel. A pioneer Highland Presbyterian had a horror of "popish practices." With him kneeling in prayer was taboo and smacked of idolatry.

With the influx of pastors the chapel flock was divided and each denomination built its own church. At the present time, Baptists have reopened the venerable church doors for regular Sunday services.

Today, as in 1819 and 1837, any Protestant denomination may, without money and without price, find a church home at Dixie.

OAK BAY RECTOR TO PREACH TWICE

At 9:30 a.m., there will be a thirty-minute service for young people. Boys and girls and also adults unable to attend the regular services are reminded of this special service.

There will also be celebration of Holy Communion on Thursday next at 10:30 a.m.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, Rev. James Hyde will preach tomorrow morning on "The Need of Keeping Our Memories Refreshed with Eternal Verities." TO DISCUSS USE OF GOOD THINGS

"Modern Idolatry" Is Evening Topic of Rev. G. A. Reynolds—Morning, "God Is Love"

That the good things of life should be used and not abused, and that they should be kept in their proper place, will be the underlying thought of Rev. G. A. Reynolds' address at First Baptist Church tomorrow evening. The title of his sermon is "Modern Idolatry" (I John v, 21).

At the morning service, Mr. Reynolds will speak on "God Is Love," basing his theme on I John iv, 8.

Tomorrow morning, Miss Jean Atchison and Norman Duckworth will sing the duet, "He Did Not Die in Vain" (Fuller), and James Dinsmore will contribute a solo in the evening.

'Truth' Will Be Subject Tomorrow

"Truth" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The golden text is: "The truth of the Lord endureth forever. Praise ye the Lord" (Psalms cxvii, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ" (John i, 17).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The life of Christ Jesus was not miraculous, but it was indigenous to his spirituality—the good soil wherein the seed of Truth springs up and bears much fruit."

EVENING SERMON FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Rev. F. W. McKinnon to Preach Twice Tomorrow at Emmanuel Baptist Church

Rev. F. W. McKinnon will be the guest speaker tomorrow at the Emmanuel Baptist Church. In the morning Mr. McKinnon will have for his theme "The Tenderness and Severity of God." The evening message will be especially fitting for young people, the subject being "Sitting on the Fence."

Mission Closed During August

The Spiritual Mission of Alexis, 1042 Balmoral Road, will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow when an address will be given on "The Sermon on the Mount, a Guide to Right Living." A few messages will follow.

The church will be closed during the month of August, reopening on September 5.

ANGLICANS WILL NOT ADMIT WOMEN

The Anglican diocesan synod of Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, at the last session gave to the women of its parishes the right to vote on lay delegates to the synods. Three motions to make them eligible for election to the synod, the vestries and as church wardens were defeated.

The Government of India has marked its appreciation of a remarkable work of the Salvation Army in the Andaman Penal Settlements, by the award of the Kaiser-I-Hind medals in gold and silver to their officers, Major and Mrs. Sheard. Six hundred brutal outlaws, 120 of whom were convicted of fifty murders and robberies totaling £22,500 worth of goods, have become a law-abiding, thrifty and prosperous community. Some of the more desperate characters were the personal servants of the officers. Many former murderers have become Sunday school teachers and Gospel preachers.

W. A. Wicks Is Speaker at Truth Centre

W. A. Wicks, of Seattle Truth Centre, will be the speaker at Victoria Truth Centre on Sunday. At the morning service he will speak on "Stretch Forth Thine Hand." Edward Durrant will sing "In Green Pastures" (Sanderson).

In the evening the topic will be "Left or Right?" Frank Rowley will sing "Consider and Hear Me" (Wooler).

On Monday afternoon there will be a special meeting, at which Mr. Wicks will speak on "Bags That Wax Not Old."

ROLAND HAYES SAVED CHURCH

Portland, Me., Citizens Rally To Concert for Negro House of Worship

How Roland Hayes saved its house of worship for the only negro congregation in Maine is the story of a correspondent in The Christian Century.

The African Methodist Zion Church of Portland, Me., was faced with extinction due to the large number of its members being unemployed. A businessman with only $37 in the bank was assisted by a Jewish citizen in sharing the risk of underwriting the expense of a concert, the latter stating that he wanted "to save a Christian church for his negro friends."

An audience of 3,000 heard the great singer, under whose charm "distinctions of class and color disappeared."

ENGLISH BAPTISTS OPPOSED TO UNION

Proposed Merger With Congregationalists and Presbyterians Would Split Body, Is Reported

English Baptists have come out strongly against the proposal of union with the Congregationalists and Presbyterians, in the report just issued, of a special committee of the Baptist Union Council.

"We are all agreed," it is stated, "that, if this question of union with Congregationalists and Presbyterians were forced to an issue in England now, it would split the denomination. We are agreed that the majority of our people would decline to have anything to do with it, and, if a scheme of unity were attempted, would not come into it, but would retain a separate existence apart from it."

The ground of objection is found in the specific witness of Baptists to "believers' baptism," considered both in the light of loyalty to the New Testament teaching and its relation to church membership.

It may be recalled that in the initiatory stages of church union in Canada, now nearly forty years ago, Baptists in this country declined to take part in negotiations looking toward union with the Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians.

"RETURN OF GOD'S RULE" IS THEME

Under the auspices of the Victoria and District British-Israel Association, on Tuesday evening, there will be a Bible study class and discussion in the Y.M.C.A. Hall.

The subject is "The Theocratic State, or the Return of God's Rule on Earth." Very helpful papers with suggestions for discussion can be obtained at the bookroom, 645 Pandora Avenue.

HIGH CASTES ARE ALSO CONVERTED

In addition to the large accession to the Christian church in India by the conversion of members of the depressed classes it is reported that some 26,000 of the middle-caste Hindus have been baptized during the past few years. They have come in largest numbers from the lower castes, whose contacts with the outcastes were numerous, but there are converts from all castes, with even a sprinkling of Brahmans.

These men have been won to Christ by the ministry of catechists, evangelists and school teachers, whom they formerly despised as untouchables. They have gladly received baptism and the Lord's Supper at the hands of ministers of outcaste origin.

This is stated to be one of the most startling happenings in the history of Christianity in India, and has occurred because of the change which the Sudras (a higher caste) have seen in the lives of the low-caste converts.

Rev. A. deB. Owen Will Be Speaker at Show Boat Service

A BRIEF address by Rev. Arthur deB. Owen will be given at the twilight service at the Show Boat tomorrow evening. Community singing of familiar hymns, under the leadership of Harry S. Hay, and the Salvation Army Citadel Band is an attractive feature of the hour, beginning at 9 p.m.

He continues his "personality problems" in the evening, taking as the topic "Conquering Personal Hatred."

Mr. Johnston has traveled very extensively. His various contacts with a wide and diversified range of people have given him many insights into the problems which confront the modern person.

RELICS OF MOODY BEING DISPLAYED

The thumb-worn Bible of Dwight L. Moody, the only object rescued by him from the flames of the Chicago fire, is on display at East Northfield, Mass., for the 10,000 visitors that assemble for the eight religious conferences that are being held in that town during the centenary year of the birth of the founder of the Northfield schools.

Here also are the old Sankey organ used in evangelistic campaigns and the Moody-Sankey Gospel hymnal, and the crib in which the infant Dwight, sixth in a family of nine children, was rocked to sleep.

The mosque at West Kensington, London, the cornerstone of which was laid in June, will add a second house of worship for the Moslems in Britain, the other being that at Woking. The new mosque, like that of its predecessor, will be a miniature of the Taj Mahal and will hold about 1,000 persons. The number of Moslems and those interested in Islam in Britain is said to be about 2,000 persons, many of them Indian and Egyptian students.

Dr. Clem Davies Will Preach For Second Sunday in Vancouver

The regular Sunday services of Dr. Clem Davies' Ministry in the Empire Theatre have been temporarily suspended until further notice. Pressure in Vancouver upon Dr. Davies has been brought to bear for him to hold Sunday evening services in the Vancouver Stadium.

The first service was held last Sunday evening, along the lines of those held here in Victoria on Sunday evenings, and was much appreciated by the great congregation. Garfield White is assisting Dr. Davies with these services.

Another great service has been arranged for tomorrow night. Dr. Davies regrets that he has to leave his congregation in Victoria for a while at least, but plans are being projected for a week-night meeting in this city at an early date.

REAL GOLDEN AGE TO BE ENVISIONED

"Sounding of Seventh Trumpet" Is Lecture Subject of E. E. Richards on Monday Evening

"The Seventh Angel and the Golden Age" will be the subject of an address to be given by E. E. Richards, under the auspices of the British-Israel World Federation, on Monday at 8 o'clock in the Campbell Building.

Mr. Richards will discuss the ending of the present age and civilization as indicated by the "Sounding of the Seventh Angel" (Rev. xi 15), and the initiation of a real golden age of peace and happiness under the kingship of a literally returned Christ.

The address will be an effort on the part of the speaker to bring home to many what he believes to be the wonderful provision of Almighty God for the salvation of humanity in a universal kingdom, Biblically said to follow immediately on the break-up of the present worn-out system of war and strife.

GRACE LUTHERAN

At Grace Lutheran Church on Simday, the pastor, Rev. Edwin Bracher, will be in charge of both services. At the 11 o'clock service the sermon will be "Restorer of Souls," and at 7:45 p.m. "Luke's Prologue."

If that recently-imported Hawaiian walking fish is introduced widely, we may yet hear the yarn of the one that ran away.

Jane Dixon Says:

A GIRL, IN A DILEMMA, BECAUSE SHE SUDDENLY REALIZED SHE DOES NOT LOVE THE MAN TO WHOM SHE IS ENGAGED, ASKS WHEHER SHE SHOULD MARRY HIM OR BREAK THE ENGAGEMENT

Not what people say, but what you do, will make or mar your life.

Have no fear of wagging tongues that dip their tips in ridicule or in poison. Fear only the voice of your own conscience when it condemns you for knowing the truth, but lacking the courage and the honor to adhere to truth.

My Dear Miss Dixon: Two years ago, when I was eighteen, I met a young man and fell in love with him, or so I thought.

He was going with another girl at the time, and it was rumored that they were engaged. I'll admit I did everything I could to get him interested in me, and after a few months he began inviting me to go places with him, and asked me if he might call on me at my home.

I told him I'd rather not see him so often, if he were engaged. He assured me he was not, and to prove it he stopped going with the other girl. We had such good times together and got along so well in every way, that we both decided we must be in love. He asked me to marry him, and I promised. We were to wait until he had a raise in salary, which was due, and which he had been told he would get.

Nothing has happened to change things, but now I find I do not love him. I do not want to marry him. The very thought of it turns me cold all over. But what can I do? He's a fine young man, well liked, respected. We've gathered a lot of things for our future home—linen, china and silver, even furniture.

If I break off with him now, everyone we know will be horrified. They'll blame me, and turn against me. Even my parents, who look on him as a son, will be down on me. Would it be better for me to go on and marry him, feeling as I do; or must I tell him the truth, break the engagement and take my medicine?—M. B.

Answer: Your mistake is an unfortunate one, but inasmuch as it was honestly made, you should not be blamed too much.

Don't feel guilty about taking the young man away from the other girl. If he had loved her, he would not have been taken.

It's bitter medicine with which you are confronted, my dear M.B., but for your own health and happiness, for the peace of mind and the happiness of the young man, swallow it. He will be hurt, deeply hurt, no doubt. His pride and his heart will suffer. But the wounds will be no more than superficial scratches in comparison with the injury that would be done him if you marry him just to save your face.

Let your friends be horrified, if they're that kind of friends. It is you who must live with the young man, not them. Our real friends admire us for our integrity. Shut your ears to the criticism, to the contumely of idle gossipers and trouble raisers.

As for your parents, it is their duty to stand by you and help you out of a situation that involves your entire future. You did not deliberately wrong the young man. You are not the first young woman to be mistaken about love, nor will you be the last. Explain to your parents exactly how you feel, and ask them to help you. The vital issue in the proposed marriage is that you look upon the young man as a husband, not that they look upon him as a son.

So I advise, take your medicine, M.B., and never say "Yes" again until you are sure, beyond shadow of doubt, that it is for once and for always.

Forget you never

by Margaret Gorman Nichols

CHAPTER XLVIII

In a parsonage living-room at three o'clock that afternoon Brad and Dee were married. Dee wore a blue dress beneath her squirrel jacket and the sunlight through the window seemed to set her vivid hair aflame. All was quiet except for the voice of the clergyman, speaking solemnly and clearly.

The orchids were tremulous on the shoulder of Eden's tailored brown suit, which had been new last Spring, and beneath the brim of the high-crowned brown felt hat her dark eyes expressed the deep emotion she felt. The marriage ceremony never failed to touch deep chords in her and rarely failed to bring mist to her eyes. "Neil and I," she thought, "were so close to this—so close and now so far away."

It was over. Handclasps. Kisses. Rice pelted at them as they ran from the parsonage to the little coupe burdened with baggage. Dee, waving, throwing a kiss to Eden . . . The car moved down the quiet street where the sun was shining through the trees. The last Eden saw of them, their heads were close together . . .

Coming home, Mrs. Carver, wearing her best black dress, sank wearily in her favorite chair. Eden took off the orchids, pulled off her hat, and then went to place fresh logs on the fire.

"It's like losing my own child, losing Dee," Mrs. Carver said. "But I have someone for her room already. You know Mrs. Reese, Eden?" Eden knew. She was one of her mother's oldest and dearest friends. "Well, since her husband died and her daughter married and went to Chicago to live, Mrs. Reese, Cora, has been living in a small apartment. She keeps asking me if I can't give her a room. She's like me. I wouldn't live with my son-in-law either."

Turning away from the fireplace, Eden said soberly, "Would you like me to marry David, Mother?"

Mrs. Carver thought a moment. "Why—I don't know. When you get older, Eden, you get practical. I think he's a fine young man. Mothers think more about security than romance. That's wrong, I guess." She held up a small hand, rough from housework. "But I won't interfere with you. I'll stick to that. I ran off with your father and never regretted it. But if you marry David, I won't live with you. I'm going to stay right here in my own home. I'd be lost without my own kitchen, my own things." She stopped abruptly and frowned at Eden. "Why, I believe you're thinking of marrying him!"

Passing her, Eden put her hand on her shoulder. "I don't know."

"If you want my honest opinion, I don't think you could do better." She smiled. "The fact is, Eden, I've been hoping you would. Of all the young men who've come to see you, I like David best. You wouldn't have to scrub and wash dishes and count pennies as I've had to do." Tenderly she looked at Eden. "But you suit yourself. I did. That's one of the things I believe in. Mothers make plans and have hopes, but all they really want is for their children to be happy."

Eden and Vicky left on a five o'clock train. At a quarter to nine they came out of the station in New York and took a taxi to Kay's apartment.

Wearing a smart black dress, her hair sleek and short, Kay opened the door and folded her daughter in her arms.

"Vicky, darling! How you've grown! Yes, you have! Eden, I sent you a schoolgirl and you bring me a woman!" Still folding the frail little figure in her arms, Kay looked over her head at Eden and nodded knowingly. Her brown eyes seemed to say, "I'll never tell her that your telegram explained everything. Perhaps she won't want me to know that it was because Brad married Dee that she decided to come. And if she wants me to know she failed in her tests at school, she'll tell me. I won't ask her. All I care about in that my little girl and I are together again."

The apartment was small, but it was furnished with Kay's usual good taste. There was a blue divan, several deep chairs, a blue rug and white lamps . . . After a late dinner at a small restaurant down the street, they returned to the apartment, and mother and daughter sat side by side on the blue divan.

"I'm in luck," Kay said. "My job is perfectly wonderful and my boss and his wife have just about adopted me!" Taking Vicky's hand, she held it firmly and smiled at her. "They're all set to adopt you, too, darling. They've never had any children of their own, and we've talked hours about you. In the Fall you're going to school, a private school, and next Summer my work will probably take me to Europe and you're going with me. Then you're going to college." She looked at Eden. "It seems almost too good to be true after the struggle we had in Washington. People here have been most kind."

Eden looked at the younger girl. "Vicky aren't you glad you came?"

The dark eyes lighted. She merely nodded and said, "Yes, thanks to you, Eden." But Eden knew she meant, "Yes, I'm glad I didn't marry a man who didn't love me. I'd have missed all this if I had. A private school, a Summer in Europe . . . I'll meet lots of boys."

Kay left for her office early the next morning. Eden prepared breakfast in the tiny white kitchen and she and Vicky sat at the table by the window and ate.

Then Eden said, "If I were to tell you I may marry David what would you say, Vicky?"

The dark eyes searched her face. "I won't let you marry him!"

B.C. FORESTRY PLAN OPERATES

Five Hundred Young Men in Camps or on Trails in Woods Now

Provincial forestry training camps to the number of twenty-eight were reported in operation this week, with selected crews of young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five. Upwards of 500 men in all have now been placed, under direction of the British Columbia Forest Branch.

The work in camp is divided between construction of fire trails for forest protection; practical instruction in elementary forestry subjects, and organized sports.

Approximately 100 men have been detailed as assistants to British Columbia forest rangers, and are actually on the fire lines in the current fire prevention season.

Many of those employed under the forestry training plan secure permanent positions later in the lumber industry, past experience has shown. The men receive some pay, with necessary deductions for board.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

OVERWEIGHT MAY BE THE MATCH THAT LIGHTS THE FIRE IN DIABETES

Notwithstanding the fact that insulin now saves thousands of lives yearly, men and women who would have died with diabetes, there does not seem to be any lessening of the number of individuals who, when they reach a certain age or period in life, develop diabetes.

Why should there be a large annual crop of diabetics, who, if they do not watch their diet or use insulin, will die within a few years?

The question as to why there are so many diabetics in the world, notwithstanding the knowledge of cause and treatment, is ably answered in Hygeia by Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, clinical professor of medicine, Harvard University Medical School.

"First of all, today diabetes is recognized more frequently and this swells the total number of cases. Laboratory tests for the presence of sugar in the urine are far simpler than formerly and so are more generally employed.

"The second reason for the increase in diabetes is the aging of the population. Diabetes is chiefly a disease of adults. Two-thirds of all cases of diabetes begin above the age of forty years. In Boston in 1845 only twenty of every hundred persons lived to be forty years of age; today eighty of every hundred persons live to be forty years of age. It is no wonder there are more diabetic persons.

"Finally, one must remember how much longer diabetic patients live, and, therefore, how much more of them we see about us. The average age at death of my diabetic patients formerly was forty-four years, but now it has risen to sixty-three years." This is average age—many, of course, live to be considerably older than sixty-three.

Professor Joslin points out that while one can, by vaccination and inoculation, be protected against certain ailments — smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid—because they are caused by germs, the tendency toward developing diabetes seems to be inherited — usually from both parents or the ancestors of both parents.

Now the fact, that one has a family history of diabetes doesn't mean that diabetes is bound to occur, but a serious warning is given by Dr. Joslin when he says: "The outstanding inciting cause for diabetes in one with a diabetic family history, who is above the age of forty is obesity—overweight."

To prevent diabetes, therefore, there are two things to do: First, two diabetic persons should not marry and have children. A diabetic, if he or she marries, should choose a partner from a non-diabetic family. Second, any one who has a relative with diabetes should never allow himself to become fat.
